MACON GIRL KILLED BY MAN WHO FIRED FROM SPEEDING CAR

Miss Rosa Lee Eubanks Was on Her Way Home to Dress for Valentine Party to Be Given by Philathea Class.

DOC BRANAM ARRESTED; TAXI DRIVER ALSO HELD

Chauffeur Accuses Passenger, Declaring That He Opened Fire as He Passed Young Woman — Branam Drinking, Say Police.

Macon, Ga., February 14.—Miss Rosa Lee Eubanks, 20 years old, was shot to death on a downtown street here tonight, two pistol shots being fired from an automobile, which is said to have passed her at high speed.

"Doc" Branam, a young man well known about town, is held on the charge of having shot the young woman, and Marvin Jones, a taxicab driver, is also under arrest. Feeling ran high against Branam and a cordon of police and deputies tonight surrounded the jail where he was held.

Story Told by Jones.

According to the police, Jones stated that Branam got into the taxicab and forced him with a pistol to run the machine at high speed, and as they passed the young woman, Branam opened firm, he said. The young woman was shot through the heart and died before she could be taken to a hospital.

At 10 o'clock tonight Branam, who is a well-known young man about town, was lodged in jail charged with the murder. His brother-in-law, a man named Riddick, admitted that Branam did the shooting, stating that he was taking him home at the time when Branam fired at random from the car.

Had Fired at Random.

He had previously fired two shots in Wall street alley a short time before killing Miss Eubanks, it is said, and Riddick was hurrying him home to keep him out of trouble. At a late hour tonight Branam was too drunk to make a statement, according to the police.

It is said that he did not even know the young woman who was killed.

Miss Eubanks was the daughter of H. H. Eubanks, 127 Rembert avenue.

Miss Eubanks had been employed as cashier and stenographer for the Williams Manfacturing company. She had just left the home of F. W. Williams to go to her own home to dress for a Valentine party which was to be given by the Philathea class, of which she was a member.

White Man Will Succeed Henry Lincoln Johnson As the Recorder of Deeds

Washington, February 14.—(Special.) Representative Carl Vinson reported to the house today a bill which will insure the successor of Henry Lincoln Johnson, the Atlanta negro lawyer, as recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, being a white citizen of Washington. The bill passed without debate.

The office of recorder of deeds pays $4,000 a year and has in the past been regarded as patronage of the colored supporters of the administration. White women in this office work in the same room with, and usually under the surveillance of, negro chiefs. The condition was considered intolerable by southern congressmen. Upon attaining membership on the District of Columbia committee, Mr. Vinson sought to relieve this situation.

The president was being urged to name another negro as collector. Senators Hoke Smith, Vardaman, Tillman and other southern senators told the president a negro could not be confirmed.

The bill placing the office under the control of the District commissioners, which passed the house today, makes certain the selection of a white democrat. Little trouble is apprehended in senate.

Constitution Views On Usury Question Lauded by Williams

Comptroller Thinks So Highly of Editorial He Makes It Part of His Statement Before the House Committee.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 14.—(Special.) John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, sent to Representative Howard today The Constitution's editorial of January 26 on usury, and commending it so highly that Mr. Howard will have it incorporated in the hearings on the subject. He wrote:

"My Dear Congressman: If it is not too late to do so, it seems to me it would be a very good idea to insert the enclosed editorial from The Atlanta Constitution on the subject of usury at the close of my supplemental statement, printer's proof of which I returned to you this morning.

"It seems to me that Clark Howell has sized the situation up pretty well in this editorial. It is a very forceful presentation of the subject."

Mr. Howard expects to distribute the comptroller's statement very generally. He believes the evil is a serious one, oppresses those least able to bear it, and is an ungracious return on part of national banks for large governmental favors.

HONORS ARE WON BY GEORGIA GIRL AT VASSAR COLLEGE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., February 14.—Miss Ruth Walker, of Cartersville, Ga., is among the honor girls in this year's senior class at Vassar college, it was announced tonight.

Society Women Accused Of Causing Girl Strikers To Defy New York Police

New York, February 14.—Encouragement by society women, added to the fact that their fines are paid by their union, leads women strikers in New York city to laugh at the police and hold the laws and courts in contempt, asserted Police Magistrate Murphy today when three men and seven women needlework strikers were arraigned before him charged with disorderly conduct. The ten strikers were arrested while on picket duty in connection with their strike, which already has thrown out of employment 40,000 men and women, and which threatens to spread to the shirt makers' union, with 60,000 members.

"I am becoming tired of the lawlessness of these strikers, especially the women," Magistrate Murphy added, "and in my opinion nothing but a prison sentence will make them realize that they must obey the laws of the country."

The magistrate, however, imposed fines of $10 each on the strikers.

At a meeting late today of several thousand strikers, "Mother" Jones, who is known throughout the country for her active interest in labor, was the principal speaker. She urged the strikers to remain out until their demands were met and never to cease working for the vote for women.

Heavy Diner and Drinker Considered a Bad Risk By the Life Companies

New York, February 14.—Insurance statistics show that the man who overeats as well as the man who indulges in alcoholic drinks is a bad risk, according to Arthur Hunter, a life insurance actuary. Mr. Hunter delivered a warning against overindulgence, in an address to a Young Men's Christian association last night. He said that the heavy diner, as well as the heavy drinker, was sure of a short life, but seldom a merry one, because the conditions under which he lived precluded the full enjoyment of either mental or physical wellbeing. But at the top of the list of life-shortening habits he placed the use of alcoholic liquors.

"Seventy years ago," said Mr. Hunter, "an abstainer was unknown. When the first abstainer applied to a large London company for insurance, a special meeting of the board of directors was called to deal with this phenomenon and a special premium was demanded. Contrary to all expectations, this man lived to be 82 years old.

JUDGE FITE SCORES COURT OF APPEALS

In Charge to Murray Grand Jury, Says $500 Fine Was Nothing in Proportion to Contempt Entertained for Appellate Tribunal.

Chatsworth, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—In his charge to the grand jury of Murray superior court today, Judge A. W. Fite startled the large crowd packed in the courtroom by declaring that when the court of appeals fined him $500 for contempt of that court the fine was nothing like in proportion to the contempt which he actually entertained for that tribunal. He stated that any three lawyers present would constitute a stronger court than the court of appeals.

Nearly the entire charge was devoted to the courthouse squabble, which has been agitating the public mind for many months, and Judge Fite scathingly rebuked those who have criticised his attitude toward this question.

Newspapers Denounced.

The newspapers of the Cherokee circuit were dealt with in especially vigorous language. In the course of the charge Judge Fite admitted that when he granted the injunction restraining the erection of the courthouse according to the original plans he knew that if the case was carried to the supreme court his ruling would be reversed.

Judge Fite's charge has been characterized as a "political speech" by numbers of people on the streets of Chatsworth this afternoon.

Courthouse Case Begun.

The famous contempt case against the county commissioners of Murray county and their clerk, Attorney Jesse M. Sellers, which was set for hearing at 8 o'clock this morning, was called by Judge A. W. Fite this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

After hearing the evidence of several witnesses called to testify against the commissioners, court adjourned until 8 o'clock in the morning, when one other witness will be called for the prosecution.

Prior to adjournment, D. W. Blair, attorney for the commissioners, moved to dismiss the case because none of the evidence tended to establish the allegations of the petition. The motion was overruled.

Sellers Issues Card.

At a late hour this afternoon Attorney Jesse M. Sellers issued the following card in reply to a statement made by Judge Fite in his charge to the grand jury this morning:

"I deny as absolutely false the statement made by Judge A. W. Fite in his charge to the grand jury this morning that I told him in Cartersville, or anywhere else, that the commissioners were willing to build the courthouse according to the plans suggested by him if it were not for the fact that [illegible] say old Beck made us do it, or words to that effect."

Field Marshal French To Be Held Responsible For British Air Defense

London, February 15.—It seems that the government has no intention of yielding to the agitation in favor of creating an aviation ministry charged with the defense of the country against air attack. It is stated that the government, instead, has decided to institute a great air defense department with headquarters at Whitehall, under Field Marshal Viscount French, who will be solely responsible for air defense. It is expected that either Premier Asquith or A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, will explain the proposed plans to parliament today or tomorrow.

Field Marshal French will have command of all the aircraft artillery and defensive aircraft, except the water planes, which will continue under admiralty control, their business being to deal with enemy warships.

Field Marshal French yesterday received a deputation of Midland civic authorities headed by Arthur Neville Chamberlain, lord mayor of Birmingham, to whom he gave an outline of how he intended to warn threatened areas. Headquarters, he said, would warn its own local centers by telephone and they would set in motion the machinery for repelling raids, regulating the lighting and taking other necessary precautions. The postoffice authorities have guaranteed a perfect chain of warnings as soon as an occasion arises.

Modern Hospital Train Presented by Americans To French Government

Paris, February 14.—A hospital train of thirteen cars, the gift of two wealthy Americans, was presented to the French government today. Laurence V. Benet, former member of the chamber of commerce in Paris, made the presentation address.

Justin Godart, under secretary for sanitary service, accepted the gift. He referred to numerous similar acts of sympathy on the part of Americans, and declared that their friendship for France was traditional.

The train is fitted with the most modern equipment and can accommodate 225 wounded persons. It has the latest surgical and medical equipment and furnishes as much comfort for the wounded as is possible.

The train includes a sleeping and dining car for the personnel, a greater part of which will be supplied by the American ambulance in Paris.

The cars are decorated with American and French flags and the Red Cross insignia beneath of this painted "American Hospital Train." A number of prominent Americans and Frenchmen witnessed the presentation.

The train will be stationed at Noisy-Le-Sec, five miles northeast of Paris, whence it will be sent as needed to various parts of the front.

VISCOUNT WEYMOUTH KILLED IN BATTLE

London, February 14.—The marquis of Bath today received news that his eldest son, John Alexander, viscount of Weymouth, had been killed in action. No details regarding the viscount's death so far have come to light. He was born in 1895.

'Twas a Sad, Sad Day For Proud Owners Of New Spring 'Lids'

Many Were the Hearts That Sorrowed as Flivvers Gaily Ended Existence of Wind-Tossed Hats.

He looked almost as sad as a mother turtle when she leaves a lonely, orphaned oval to the sun and sees the rude tide arise and smither it to smash-ereens, and the ice of the near-blizzard seemed more icy and the blizzard more blizzardy when that glorious Alpine-effect head ornament of his had skylarked down Peachtree and sighed out its last faint breath beneath the wheels of a "flivver."

That was but one lonesome instance.

It was an afternoon of widely distributed and dissected headgear. It was nothing at all along either Whitehall or Peachtree streets to see a hat of lost paternal ancestor rambling merrily along the sidewalk. Neither was it exceptional to observe head-on collisions between irate owners of "lids" that betrayed a premature spring effect.

It was an afternoon of hat tragedies, but none so desperate as that of the man whose cranial raiment offered itself as mute sacrifice to the jitney. Oh, yes, there was one other real weep at Peachtree and Walton streets. Just a tidy little mass of ribbons, rosettes, sunshine effects and light-as-lingerie stuff almost stampeding a big limousine, sidetracking a loaded truck and generally holding up traffic until a chivalric young man risked the laughing scorn of the multitudes and won for himself the blushing gratitude of the fair owner.

The hat of mere man couldn't stop traffic. More than one went to earth never to rise again after the sudden puffs of wind from around the skyscraper corners, and taxi drivers seemed to take demoniacal delight in smashing 'em. Commandments were broken and the air became lurid, but traffic rolled on.

Not so when the young lady's hair adornment with an attached curl—or maybe it was only fancy—alighted in the middle of the street. It was a hat-chasing windy day, but traffic looked and stopped not at all, until then. For one woman's hat traffic lost three minutes' time. And they say the day of chivalry has passed.

NEGRO AND WHITE MAN KILLED IN DIFFICULTY

Negro's Body Afterwards Said to Have Been Burned by Outraged Whites.

Augusta, Ga., February 14.—J. R. Culpepper, of C. C. Culpepper & Son, saw mills and planing, at Dearing Ga., 29 miles up the Georgia railroad from Augusta, was shot and killed at 7 o'clock tonight by Mack Born, a negro.

Men or a man with Mr. Culpepper fired upon and killed Born.

The killing occurred at Born's house, where Culpepper and friends had gone in connection with a difficulty Born had had with a sawyer at Culpepper's saw mill during the day. The Culpeppers are prominent in this section.

It is also learned that Born had tried to destroy the Culpepper saw mill.

After Born was killed it is learned that outraged citizens burned his body. There is no excitement at Dearing.

FLORIDA IS STIRRED BY RELIGIOUS ISSUE

Protests Force Meeting of the Democratic Committee to Reconsider Primary Rule.

Tampa, Fla., February 14.—After protests from various sections of the state against resolutions passed at the meeting of the state democratic executive committee on January 6, Chairman George P. Raney issued a call tonight for a reconvening of the committee on request of a majority of the committee.

The clauses objected to were those which it was said would eliminate from the democratic primary those whose religious or fraternal convictions might prejudice them against party nominees.

Governor Park Trammell, who is a candidate for the United States senate against Nathan P. Bryan, incumbent, led in the opposition to the resolution.

The call for the re-assembling of the committee names February 24 at Jacksonville as the time and place.

MAN SHOOTS ANOTHER FOR KICKING HIS DOG

Lon Parr Is Being Held for Alleged Assault to Murder.

Athens, Ga., February 14.—(Special.) Lon Parr, well known here, is held on assault to murder charge, for shooting Marion Massey in both legs early this morning.

Parr was 'possum hunting and says Massey met him on the railroad track and knocked him down; that he shot him in one leg, and as Massey came back at him shot him in the other leg.

Parr went home and phoned for the sheriff to come for him. Massey says Parr shot him because he kicked Parr's dog after the animal snapped at him, and that Parr then ran away, and that he lay wounded from 2 a. m. till after sun-up before help reached him. Several negroes heard his cries for help, but feared to go to him lest they might be accused of the shooting.

WOMAN, AGED 77, DIES FROM BURNS

When Son Returned From Work He Found Mother's Charred Body on Floor and Negro Nurse Gone.

Left alone by a negro nurse, Mrs. Rebecca Anne McKinley, aged 77, was burned to death at the residence, 16 East Pavilion street, late Monday afternoon, her clothes catching fire from an open grate. J. R. McKinley, son of the aged woman, returned from work at 5 o'clock to find his mother's charred body lying on the floor, the chair in which she had been sitting burned, and her clothes still burning.

Mrs. McKinley, who was paralyzed on one side of her body, had been an invalid for the past three years. During that time her sons, J. R. and C. W. McKinley, contractors, had employed a negro woman to care for their mother during the day when they were absent from home.

According to neighbors, the women left the McKinley residence shortly before 3 o'clock, going away with a negro man. Late last night she had not returned and could not be found despite efforts on the part of police to locate her.

Residence Not Known.

The woman was known to the McKinleys only as "Mary," and her residence could not be learned from them by the police officers last night.

According to J. R. McKinley, who was seen at the residence early last night by a Constitution reporter, Mrs. McKinley had been left with the negro woman for a long time and had always been well cared for by her.

When he returned to the residence late Monday evening he noticed smoke issuing from the cracks under the front door, which led into the room in which his mother was in the habit of sitting in front of a grate fire.

Upon opening the door he saw his mother lying on the floor, her body completely shrouded in flames, which had consumed a wicker chair in which she had been sitting. Most of her clothing had been burned off and the floor in front of the fire was charred and burning.

Running to a telephone, Mr. McKinley called the fire department, engine companies 2 and 9 answering the alarm. Before they reached the residence, however, he had extinguished the flames.

Lived Here 25 Years.

Mrs. McKinley was the wife of the late G. W. McKinley, a confederate veteran, and had been a resident of Atlanta for [illegible] years. She is survived by three sons, J. R. and C. W. McKinley, contractors, and J. W. McKinley, of Douglasville, Ga., and one daughter, Mrs. John Mathis, of Griffin.

The body was removed to Patterson's chapel, where it will remain pending the arrival of the son and daughter from out of town.

Funeral services will be held at Patterson's chapel with interment following at Forrest Park.

Mrs. McKinley was a member of the Forrest Park Baptist church, and for many years was known as one of the most beloved women in the neighborhood where she resided.

Call Officers Newport and Arnold from No. 9 fire engine house were investigating the tragedy last night. They stated that an effort would be made to find the negro woman.

Son to Read Speech Prepared by Father, Who Died Recently

"Office Building Dividends," the speech prepared by the late James E. Randell, prominent skyscraper owner of Chicago, to be delivered at the annual meeting of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, will not be read by an Atlanta man, as was announced, but will be read by Murray Randell, the young heir to the millions of the deceased office building owner.

Murray Randell, in answer to a request from President Charles F. Wilkinson, of the Atlanta association, Monday telegraphed his acceptance of the invitation to read his father's address. His father died about three weeks ago. The news was received with sincere regret by many Atlantans who so pleasantly remembered Mr. Randell as president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers at its eighth annual convention here last September.

The committee on arrangements has chosen the Ansley hotel for the place of the annual dinner Monday night.

"Won't you be our Valentine? We will be your Valentines," inscribed on a heart a foot high.

Members of Family Have Narrow Escape From Burning Home

The residence of J. Buchman, 391 Washington street, was badly damaged by fire at a late hour last night. Mr. and Mrs. Buchman and five children had to be rescued by firemen, having been overcome by smoke and being unable to get out of the burning building.

The children who were rescued are Katie, aged 11; Lila, aged 6; Ira, aged 7; Dorothy, aged 4, and Ruth, aged 2 years.

The house was very badly damaged. The fire is supposed to have started from the furnace. Buchman is a merchant at 26 Mitchell street.

FURIOUS BATTLES RAGE ALONG WESTERN FRONT; GERMANS ATTACKING

DELICATE POSITION FOR UNITED STATES

As Result of Announcement of Teutons That Armed Merchant Ships Will Be Sunk Without Warning.

Washington, February 14.—The United States probably will leave to future developments whether any action will be taken in response to the announcement from the Teutonic allies that armed merchantmen beginning March 1 will be subjected to submarine attack without warning.

From high official quarters today came the intimation that the memorandums received from the German and Austrian governments are considered in themselves a sufficient warning to Americans to refrain from engaging passage on merchant ships of the class of vessels affected by the order.

In Delicate Position.

The United States, admittedly, has found itself to be in a delicate position as a result of its memorandum to the entente allies and the memorandum from the central powers.

Should this government approve of the position of the Teutonic allies, it is believed diplomatic controversies immediately would result, and it might even be charged that the United States had committed an unneutral act of benefit to the enemies of the entente.

On the other hand the central powers, it is believed, might be offended should the state department criticise adversely their memoranda, which was generally regarded to be a development of the American memorandum, suggesting the disarming of merchantmen.

By allowing future developments to determine the stand of the United States, it was pointed out, all difficulty could be avoided at this time.

May Notify Americans.

From one quarter came an indication that officials may call the attention of Americans to the orders of the central powers when they secure passports for travel abroad. Just how the attention of Americans in Europe [illegible] has not been determined.

It is pointed out that the danger of Americans traveling from the United States in British and French ships would in any event be slight, ships of those nationalities entering American waters not being armed. They, therefore, are immune from the new program of the central powers, and their safety is guaranteed by assurances previously given.

Cabinet May Decide.

The memorandums, both of which were studied by Secretary Lansing today, do not, it is said, necessarily call for an answer. They probably will be brought officially to the attention of the cabinet at its meeting tomorrow, and some definite policy in regard to them may be decided on.

The state department, it is said, will continue its efforts to have the entente allies agree to the suggestions contained in its memorandum suggesting the disarming of merchant ships. Various high officials believe that the allies finally will agree to adopt the suggestions of the United States.

COLOMBIA MAY BREAK WITH UNITED STATES

If Senate Reduces Indemnity for Partition of Panama—Minister Prepares to Leave.

Washington, February 14.—Recognizing the probability that the pending treaty between the United States and his country will not be ratified by the senate in its original form Julio Betancourt, the Colombian minister, has asked his government for a leave of absence from Washington. It is understood he will seek permanent withdrawal if the treaty is rejected or if the senate accepts its foreign relations committee's amendments reducing the indemnity for the partition of Panama from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 and making the expression of regret mutual.

In a statement tonight Mr. Betancourt referred to the state of his health, which he said made it necessary for him to leave Washington.

"I am only waiting," he said, "to know the decision of the senate on the pending treaty in order to communicate a report of its action to my government, which will then put before the Colombian congress the treaty with whatever amendments may be made to it, that is if it is not approved without change, as my government expects it will be.

"I see with great concern the conversion into a party question of an international issue, which ought to be regarded as one of continental importance, considering the state of affairs in the world today. There are powerful reasons which should urge the solid union of all the nations of this continent as the most effective way to insure the future peace and prosperity of America."

Efforts of the Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson administrations to settle the controversy with Colombia were cited by the minister to prove that no question of party was involved.

"Could this question be settled by a popular vote in the United States," he added, "I feel quite sure that it would be decided in favor of Colombia. There are proofs in this legation of the strong leaning of the most important commercial and industrial concerns of this great country in favor of the treaty. I have received a great many letters to this effect."

At Some Points the Kaiser's Forces Succeed in Taking French Positions, But Lose Gains as a Result of Heavy Counter Attacks.

BIG GUNS AND INFANTRY, MINES AND AEROPLANES, ALL FIGURE IN FIGHTING

Paris Reports That Many German Attacks Have Been Stopped by French Fire, the Assailants Losing Heavily—Russians in the Caucasus Have Taken One of the Erzerum Forts and Captured Many Turkish Prisoners.

London, February 14.—The whole western fighting front is the scene of heavy engagements. At some points the big guns have been roaring incessantly for days; the infantry have been engaged in hand-to-hand struggles; grenade fighting and mining operations have played a prominent part in the battles, while airmen have fought each other above the lines and have been cannonaded from below by the anti-aircraft guns.

The Germans followed up their recent success in Champagne by the capture of an additional half mile of French trenches around Tahure, in that district, and their artillery bombardments in the neighborhood of Massiges and Navarin have been answered in kind by the French.

To the north of Soissons, around Terny and along the river Aisne, the Germans started [illegible] but the French put it down with their guns and rifles.

To the south of the Somme the Germans endeavored to surround outpost trenches, but desisted under heavy fire of the French.

In upper Alsace the Germans turned loose their guns on trenches the French had recaptured from them, but the French during the night had evacuated them and the shelling did no other damage than to shatter the emplacements.

MANY FIGHTS IN THE AIR.

Seventeen fights in the air is the record of Sunday, reported officially by the British along their lines in Flanders. In addition, there has been great activity south of La Bassee canal, where the Germans exploded seven mines Heavy bombardments and an infantry attack in that section also is reported, the Germans succeeeding in entering a British trench. They were driven out almost immediately.

In Albania, the Arzen river, which runs westward across central Albania and empties into the bay of Durazzo, has been reached by the Austro-Hungarian vanguards, according to Vienna. The Bulgarians have occupied Elbassan, an important town in central Albania.

There have been no important events on the eastern front, but the Russians in the Caucasus have occupied one of the Erzerum forts and have taken large numbers of Turkish prisoners. Several Turkish batteries on the Trebizond coast of the Black sea have been silenced by the Russian warships.

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Vienna reports, has arrived there to visit Emperor Francis Joseph. This would seem to set at naught recent unofficial re-

Advertising Has Bettered Quality And Cheapened Prices

Merchants and manufacturers advertise what they make or have to sell, because advertising gets them volume of business. Demand for goods is made through creating it; and by this expediency, advertised goods are sold at lower prices.

In the earlier days of the "greater movement" in advertising, people prone to be prejudiced against advertised articles, because they imagined the consumer was paying the publicity freight. This fallacy has long since been exploded. Volume of sales secured through advertising has absorbed that expense. You are able to buy hundreds of things today that were almost prohibitive a decade ago. Where in those days the manufacturer made a hundred articles, or put up a thousand packages, he now makes a thousand articles, and puts up a million packages. Increased demand through advertising made him study economics in every feature of the output of his factory, from the boiler room to the shipping desk. He increased efficiency; invented a wealth of wonderful machinery to speed up production, and improve the quality and appearances of his goods; and along with every advancement he made in facilitation, lower prices were made possible.

Hundreds of advertised articles are on the shelves or sales floors of our merchants. They are advertised in The Constitution. When you read the merchants' advertising in these pages and take advantage of the prices, you are enjoying the greatest results advertising has achieved.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

'In the Artois district we have caused the explosion of a mine on the south side of the road between Neuville and LaFolie

"To the south of the River Somme an attack by our troops made yesterday evening against the works held by the Germans south of the River Frise resulted in our occupying a certain section of trench A counter attack delivered by the enemy was checked by our fire One German company was surrounded by our troops and decimated. The captain and seventy survivors surrendered The total number of prisoners at present in our hands is about 100 Several machine guns were also captured by us According to the word of prisoners and judging also from the number of German dead on the field of battle the losses of the enemy at this point were considerable.

'In the Champagne district during an attack delivered yesterday by the enemy at a point to the east of the highway between Tahure and Somme Py we were successful in exploding three mines which had been laid previously under the advance trenches to which the Germans had penetrated. The German efforts to continue on to our supporting trenches resulted in complete failure. In spite of the serious losses caused by the explosion of our mines, as well as by our artillery fire, the enemy maintained his positions in these advanced trenches

"In upper Alsace yesterday evening there was further action on the part of the enemy infantry at a point east of Seppois, preceded by a violent artillery bombardment which resulted in the Germans securing possession of about 200 metres of trenches, but an immediate counter attack on our part brought back to our hands the greater portion of these positions

"Artilery fighting of great violence continues in this region

The official communication tonight reads

"In Belgium our artillery exploded a munitions depot to the north of Boesinghe

"To the north of Soissons last evening after a spirited bombardment, enemy infantry attempted to debouch by the road from Torney and by the right bank of the Aisne but was stopped short by our curtain of fire and rifle fire

On the plateau of Vauclerc our artillery effectively shelled a vallent of the German line

'In Champagne there were very intense artillery actions in the regions of Tahure Massiges and Navarin but the infantry did not attack

"In Upper Alsace to the east of Seppois a violent bombardment was carried out by the enemy on the advanced trenches which we had retaken from the troops of the night we had evacuated these emplacements, which were entirely shattered

"In the same region we took under our fire enemy reinforcements which were endeavoring to advance in small parties from Niederlarg

"SAUCY ARETHUSA" DESTROYED BY A MINE

Popular British Light Cruiser Lost Off East Coast—Arethusa Finished Bluecher.

London, February 14 —The British Arethusa struck a mine today off the coast of England, according to a statement issued by the British official press bureau About ten men were lost in the sinking of the cruiser

The text of the official statement says

'His majesty's ship Arethusa, Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt, has struck a mine off the east coast It is feared she will become a total wreck About ten men were lost.'

Known as "Saucy Arethusa."

The admiralty's announcement brings widespread regret, as the cruiser generally known as the "Saucy Arethusa" was one of the most popular ships in the navy She was covered with scars from many encounters and is believed to have been in more naval actions of the present war than any other ship in the navy Her fighting qualities and her exploits had given her a reputation of embodying the fighting spirit of the British navy

The Arethusa was a light cruiser, displacing 3 600 tons She was 410 feet long The vessel was built in 1913-1914 She was armed with two 6-inch guns fore and aft and six 4-inch guns on the broadside She also was equipped with four 21-inch torpedo tubes

Fight Off Helgoland.

The Arethusa had not been forty-eight hours out of the hands of her builders before she took part in one of the most important naval battles in the North sea since the war began —the engagement off Helgoland, August 28 1914 In this battle three German cruisers the Mainz, the Koeln and the Ariadne and two German torpedo boat destroyers were sunk The Arethusa was rather severely handled and after the battle had to be taken in tow

It was a torpedo from the Arethusa which struck the battered German cruiser Bluecher and sent her to the bottom in the great North sea battle between British and German squadrons on January 24 1915

When foreign journalists visited the Arethusa last January scars of battle were pointed out by the officers all over the vessel A deck galley amidships had been entirely shot away, a melinite shell having exploded in it This had been rebuilt. One dent in the side armor was pointed out as big as a wash bowl The upper works were literally peppered with shrapnel, but the scars had been neatly bandaged with two-inch riveted steel plates so that the Arethusa was again in shape for another fray

BRYAN IS CHALLENGED TO A DEFENSE DEBATE

Richard L. Metcalfe Wants to Meet Bryan in Nebraska on Preparedness Issue.

Omaha Neb., February 14 —Richard L. Metcalf, former governor of the Panama canal zone and now publisher of a weekly paper in Omaha, today telegraphed William J Bryan at Miami, Fla., suggesting a joint debate on the question of preparedness before the voters of Nebraska. It has been stated in the press that Mr Bryan intends to deliver in Nebraska between March 20 and the date of the state primaries, April 28, speeches in opposition to the administration's preparedness policy Mr Metcalfe asked that six joint debates be arranged, one in each congressional district of the state, during this time

Mr Metcalfe has been intimately associated with Mr Bryan in journalistic and political work for twenty-eight years His telegram says in part

"I am among those Nebraska democrats who believe that the most important duty now pressing upon the American people is that of providing our country with adequate national defense and giving to the president, who is trying to discharge that duty, the support to which he is entitled

'You have always advocated the presentation of both sides of a public question I am, therefore, encouraged to believe that you will accept my offer to meet you in joint debate upon this question

"No one knows better than I do of your power upon the stump I have, however, such faith in the correctness of the national defense proposition and am so deeply impressed with the duty resting upon the humblest American citizen in the crisis, which I believe confronts our country, that I have concluded to make you this offer hoping to offset your power as a debater with the righteousness of my cause

"In proposing this I speak with no official authority nor factional prejudice I believe, however, that I do speak for many thousands of rank and file democrats here, who feel that some Nebraska voice should be raised in behalf of national defense"

Tampa, Fla., February 14 —William J Bryan, who delivered an address at Skeimmee tonight on "Preparedness," said, when informed of the challenge sent to him at Miami, and which had not yet reached him, that he had no reply to make He would not intimate what he will do when he has received a copy of Mr Metcalf's challenge, although the full text of it was read to him over the long distance telephone

Probable That Next German Note Will Settle the Controversy.

Berlin, February 14 —(Via London) According to brief statements in The Lokal Anzeiger and The Tageblatt, the communication received Friday from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington gives promise of an impending settlement of the Lusitania controversy the German and American standpoints it is asserted, having been brought materially nearer to each other

The Lokal Anzeiger declares that the only thing now necessary is to embody the results of the negotiations ' a new note after which the whole matter may be regarded as settled

The Tageblatt, more cautious says that an agreement has been reached on the main point at issue but that probably some time will elapse before a formula is definitely fixed

MRS. G. W. WILLIAMS HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE OF RECOVERY

Her Family Was Told by Doctors That She Would Die and Children Were Summoned to Her Bedside.

Many wonderful indorsements have been given Tanlac, but the statement made by Mrs G. W. Williams, of Gadsden, Alabama, is in many respects so remarkable as to be almost incredible. Her complete statement follows:

"For nearly fifteen years I have had kidney trouble. I also had stomach trouble and suffered from nervous indigestion. I could take no nourishment except a little sweet milk, and would have palpitation of the heart and nervous headaches and terrible pains in my sides and back. I got so weak I had to take to my bed, and I stayed there 18 months. Doctors called two or three times a day, but I kept getting worse and fell off until I was almost a skeleton and had to be turned in bed, and only weighed 90 pounds.

"My husband spent more than $800 trying to get me well. Finally, I got so bad I was told that I could live only a few days. I believed, of course, that I was going to die, and told my husband to telegraph Thomasville, N. C., for my son and to Atlanta and Birmingham for my other children.

"When my daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. C. Nelson, arrived from Atlanta, she begged father to get me Tanlac. He went right down to Vance's Drug Store and got me a bottle. I began taking it, and on the second day I began to get hungry, and asked for something to eat. They gave it to me, and it agreed with me, and I have been eating ever since. After a short time I got so I could eat anything I wanted, and just as much as I wanted.

"After this I improved right along, and it wasn't any time hardly before I was out of bed. It just seemed like the more Tanlac I took the better I got, and I have actually gained 48 pounds in weight. I sleep good now, and am not nervous any more like I was. Yes, I feel almost as well as I ever felt in my life and am doing nearly all of my housework and milk the cow and churn the milk.

"After I got able to go about, I visited my daughter, Mrs. Short, at Ensley, Alabama, and have just returned from a trip to the store. I don't do anything but talk about Tanlac. All of my neighbors are talking about it, too, and think it is wonderful how this medicine has helped me."

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs' Pharmacy.—(adv.)

URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says a little Salts in water may save you from dread attack.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine, the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather, the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

WILSON ENTERS PRESIDENCY RACE

He Gives Formal Consent for Use of Name as Candidate for Renomination. Voters Must Determine.

Washington, February 14.—President Wilson today formally gave his consent that his name be used as a candidate for renomination.

In a letter to the secretary of state of Ohio the president stated that he was unwilling to enter a contest for the nomination, but was ready to permit the use of his name in the coming primary in order that the democrats of Ohio might make known their preference.

To Comply With Law.

The president made known his position in order to comply with the Ohio primary law which requires candidates for delegates to the party conventions to make known their first and second choices before February 25 and also requires that the candidates for delegates have the consent of their choices to make us of their names.

The president was formally notified of the requirements of the law last week and today he wrote Charles Q. Hildebrant, secretary of state of Ohio, as follows:

"I am inclosing to you a letter, the occasion of which I dare say will be quite obvious.. Friends in Ohio have called my attention to section 4954 of the general code of Ohio as amended in 1914, which regards to primary elections and have requested that I indicate my willingness to have my name used.

"I, accordingly, take the liberty of sending you the inclosed letter as formal permission under the statute."

The letter the president inclosed was as follows:

"While I am entirely unwilling to enter into any contest for the presidential nomination of the democratic party, I am willing to permit the use of my name that the democrats in Ohio may make known their preference in regard to that nomination.

"In order, therefore, to satisfy the technical requirements of the statutes of the state of Ohio, I hereby consent to the use of my name as a candidate for the presidency by any candidate who seeks to be elected a delegate to the national democratic convention which is to assemble in June next."

First Formal Consent.

This was the first time the president has consented formally to have his name used in connection with the nomination. His name has been placed on primary ballots in several states, however, through the activities of friends.

The president takes the position that the voters will have to determine whether he will make the race for the presidency in 1916 as the democratic candidate. In a letter written to A. Mitchell Palmer before his inauguration, Mr. Wilson made it plain that he would only be a candidate again if the democratic voters desired it.

Political advisers and friends of the president have taken for granted for months that he would be the nominee of his party and have made their plans accordingly. The national democratic committee has prepared all the campaign material with the idea that he would be the party candidate.

The formal announcement today is expected by democratic leaders to clarify the political situation throughout the country. Supporters of the president, they said today, now would be able to work for him more openly.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE INSPECTS STATE PRISON

Near-Completed Improvements to Come Within Appropriation by Legislature.

Milledgeville, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The joint committee of fifty-four members of the Georgia legislature, headed by Chairman W. J. Eakes, of the senate committee, and Chairman John T. Dorsey, of the house committee, assembled at Milledgeville this morning to begin the regular annual inspection of the Georgia state farm and the two hundred odd convict camps located in the various parts of the state.

The entire committee made a thorough inspection of the prison farm, buildings and equipment, and with one accord the members praise its operation and care by the officials in charge.

The committee made minute inspection of the additional buildings, improvements to the waterworks and electric lighting system, for which the last legislature made an appropriation, and it was found that the improvements would soon be completed, and that the cost would be within the amount of the appropriation.

Ex-Convict Makes Charges.

While the committee, as inferred above, came on no special mission other than the regular annual inspection, it so happened that a recent article in The Macon Telegraph, wherein an ex-convict named Bowles, criticised the methods of the commissary department, was brought to the committee's attention.

A committee was immediately appointed to especially look into this charge, consisting of Representatives Pickering of Charlton, Spence of Mitchell and Edwards of Haralson.

Charges Unfounded.

The committee finds, after inquiry, that there is absolutely no ground for the criticisms. It developed that the ex-convict had been a very troublesome prisoner and was even unpopular with his fellow prisoners. He had been sent to prison for stealing two cars of mules.

The committee passed resolutions requesting that in future the press will refrain from publishing like interviews, with ex-convicts especially, until some inquiry has been made as to the ground for the charges.

Routes and subcommittee assignments from the present full committees have been made for the inspection of the convict camps throughout the state, consisting of one member from the senate and two members from the house.

C. M. CANDLER TALKS TO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Athens, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Chairman Charles Murphy Candler, of Atlanta, head of the railroad commission of Georgia, spoke tonight to the school of commerce of the University of Georgia on "Railway Regulation." A number of citizens joined the members of the school to hear Mr. Candler.

HOME BUILDING CO. IN ROME PROSPERING

Rome, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The Citizens' Building and Investment company, a local corporation, is issuing a new series of stock, after several years' successful experience. The company, during the past four years, has financed the building of more than $40,000 worth of residences here, and is doing a considerable amount of building at the present time.

John Drew in "The Chief" Treat for Theater Patrons

By Louise Dooly.

"The Chief," an English comedy, by Horace Annesley Vachell, provided a typical John Drew performance last night at the Atlanta.

Suave, polished, clever, humorous, the nature of the whole evening took its cue from the art of the long-time stage idol, the play a mere instrument for the expression of John Drew.

And that is enough. For he proved again last night, as every recurring year, that nobody excels—and how many equal?—the genius of John Drew in the comedy drama, or the society comedy, that scintillant refinement of stage amusement.

Nothing more do the John Drew plays, as a rule, pretend to do than amuse, but that they do to the queen's taste, and so confident are the theatergoers of the kind of evening they can expect that a regular "first-nighter" to see John Drew could tell beforehand several scores of the people who would occupy the first floor seats.

And so it was last night—a representative audience who go to the theater, not indiscriminately, but pick out the good things, and must seem like familiar friends to the famous actor.

He has surrounded himself for this season, as he always does, with a capable support, including pretty women who know how to wear pretty clothes with exceeding grace, and who make real characters, if only conventional drawing room characters, out of their drawing room roles.

Mr. Drew has had better plays as the medium of his art—that art which so conceals art as to seem artless.

The comedy of manners, epigrammatic, sparkling, is his forte, but such comedy is not written every day, and the substitute proved a clean, pleasing story of English life in the peerage class.

The Earl of Yester is a widower to whom a love of his former years, a widow, comes seeking a secretaryship. And in the widow, Laura Hope Crews again proves Mr. Drew's perennial cleverness in the choice of a leading woman—one whose looks, charm and acuteness make it no marvel that the hero succumbs more or less speedily to this same collection of good qualities.

A scheming mother-in-law, who would further the matrimonial interests of a second daughter as a match for the widowed Lord Yester, provides much of the comedy, Katherine Stewart the ponderous dame. Consuelo Bailey is the ingenue, Daphne, the spoiled ward of the hero, whose own love affair becoming entangled with his ward's, furnishes some of the essential comedy "complications." Miss Bailey's principal scene, the hysterics, is the ollmax of her very capable work. Vaughan Fervor and George Graham, her lovers, and Miss Lawton in an unsympathetic role, are conspicuous figures in an adequate cast.

The naturalness of Mr. Drew, the plausibility of the English story, were alike convincing, and the tenor of the whole evening was of the happily unforced kind, which keeps the audience in a constant smile, save when they laugh, or for one brief scene become sober with the reflection of a tragedy soon put in the background.

There will be a matinee and evening performance today.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

After a season of good bills and then better bills, the Forsyth has come upon a lean week. While there are two or three good acts, the program as a whole does not measure up to the average.

It depends largely for its strength, judging from the billboards and the newspaper press matter, on the value of the sketch, "War Brides." This playlet has been here once before, however, and the subject of which it treats, although the talk of the world at one time, is now almost forgotten. On its first appearance here the newspapers were filled with articles on "war mothers" and "war babies." Today the phrases are seldom heard, and consequently, the play is not the asset of times past.

The sketch shows little change. The cast is the same, or practically so. Sara Biala is still playing the role of "Joan," the first of the "war brides," and yet not one, as she explains, because "Frank and I had been engaged for two years and the war had nothing to do with our marriage." The actors were given close attention Monday.

The hit of the bill, and by far the most enjoyable feature, is the appearance of Ray-Eleanor Rall, booked as the "violin virtuoso." Monday afternoon she carried away the lion's share of the laurels.

In vaudeville, much depends on trick playing. Often the real artist receives little applause, while some performer with not a tenth of the knowledge, owns the crowd from the beginning of the act. Miss Ball takes advantage of the appeal of costume, of unusual make-up, and of personal magnetism, but, more than that, she knows how to play, and does play. Her technique was declared wonderful Monday by competent critics. Her offering is altogether a delightful one.

Back again are Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, who are described on the program as "The Universal Favorites." Many times have they been here before. As a general thing they have a right to the billing "Universal Favorites." This week is no exception to the rule. Their Spanish dance pleased, and Rooney's Yiddisher dance brought him vigorous applause.

Howard and Fields opened the bill with a minstrel number staged on a dining car. It proved a fair number. Innes and Ryan came next. The program says this is "a smart act, smartly dressed." "The smartly dressed" part is correct, the "smart act" is sadly in error. The woman works hard, but that is the best one can say of this performance.

"A Boy from Home," a sketch draws many a laugh due to the work of Sharon Stephens as "Hez" Green. The less said about his support, however, the better.

"The Original Big Jim, the bear with the human brain," closes the performance. The bear is well trained.

ROBERT MORAN.

"Nobody Home."

(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of the unique and delightful musical comedy, "Nobody Home," which will be given Wednesday and Thursday with a Thursday matinee. This show is a high-class $2 production and brings to the Atlanta the best cast seen here in a musical play this season. Percival Knight, of the original New York cast, has his role and is supported by an exceedingly clever cast. The chorus is unusual and does things differently from what is ordinarily expected in musical plays. In fact, "Nobody Home" is the most unusual musical comedy ever staged here and it is sure to make a tremendous hit. It is a sure enough comedy, full of laughs from start to finish, and with songs which are light and whistlable hearing unique titles.

Grand Opera-Pavlowa.

(At the Atlanta.)

Atlanta has thoroughly waked up to the importance of the engagement of the Boston Grand Opera company and Pavlowa Ballet Russe, which will appear simultaneously in "The Love of Three Kings" Friday night, "Madame Butterfly" Saturday matinee and "La Boheme" Saturday night with the Spanish dances, divertissements and Coppelia ballet following the three operas as named. Seats are now on sale for the three performances and are being bought in bunches of from two to twenty by those anxious for big parties. The combination of the two notable companies brings the greatest list of international stars to the Atlanta ever seen in a theater, and the purchase of seats indicates tremendous crowds at each performance. Hundreds are coming from out of town and the engagement will be a great social as well as musical and art event. As many as ten orders were received in one mail yesterday from South Carolina, while all the surrounding Georgia cities are buying in quantities.

"The Fool's Revenge."

(At the Strand.)

"The Fool's Revenge," the William Fox play which will be seen at the Strand today with Maude Gilbert and William H. Tooker in the leading roles, tells the story of a clown, who, seeking revenge, unknowingly gives his only daughter into the hands of a wealthy villain. As the clown lives happily with his wife and his small daughter until Randall begins to lavish his money on Mrs. Anson, who eventually deserts her modest home and goes with Randall. Anson goes to the clowns, kills his wife and chokes Randall, but does not kill him. A number of years elapse and Anson's daughter grows up. Randall is encountered again and on this meeting hangs the story.

"Love's Cross-Roads."

(At Alamo No. 2.)

"Love's Cross Roads," at the Alamo No. 2 today, is an Equitable production and features Marie Empress. The story is vivid and thrilling and tells of a girl who is sold by gypsies to a gambler. She has been trained to be a lure for men and becomes a victim of the gambler. She afterwards meets and loves another man of good standing, the gambler, insanely jealous attacks her, she shoots him, only to find that the man she loves has been claimed by another woman. This is the foundation upon which the story is based. Marie Empress in the leading part is at her best.

"Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

(At the Grand.)

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," to many the most entrancing of the mountain stories ever written by the master hand of John Fox, will be seen in motion picture form at the Grand today and tomorrow with Charlotte Walker in the role of June Tolliver, mountain girl and moonshiner's daughter in love with the dashing young revenue officer, Theodore Roberts appears as "Devil Judd" Tolliver. The scenes of the picture were photographed in the Cumberlands of Virginia, where John Fox based the story. All of the delightful romance and bitter feud of the story is splendidly brought out and enhanced in the picture. The wonderful atmosphere of the mountains is faithfully reproduced. The newest of Paramount travalog and news pictures are an added feature.

"Eternal City."

(At the Georgian.)

Atlanta picture lovers will enjoy today and tomorrow witnessing the noted Pauline Frederick in her most lavish screen triumph, "The Eternal City," a Famous Players-Paramount picturization of Hall Caine's immortal story. "The Eternal City" provides Miss Frederick with the most adequate opportunity for characterization of her career. Both press and public pronounce it one of the most elaborate offerings of the season. It is a picture that will linger perpetually in the memory of all. Special adapted music will be rendered by the Whitney Hubner symphony orchestra.

ATLANTA POLICE BELIEVE SUSPECT IS "DOPE" THIEF

Suspected of being one of the men who robbed the drug room of the Atlanta Medical college of several large bottles of cocaine and morphine early Sunday morning, Jim Shepard, 33-year-old negro resident of 174 Martin street, was arrested by Call Officers Fain and Barfield in the act, it is claimed, of selling cocaine to a white man just off Decatur street Monday morning.

The officers received a call that there was some negro furnishing half the "dope fiends" of Atlanta with cocaine and morphine Monday morning. Going to an alley just off Butler street they came upon the negro apparently waiting for customers.

The wait was not long for in a few minutes C. P. Newman, a white man, giving his age as 22 years, and residence as Insley, Ala., approached the negro, and bought a quantity of morphine, it is alleged. The officers then arrested them both.

When searched at police headquarters the negro was found to have several dollars worth of the drug in a large brown bottle, identified as similar to those used at the medical college.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS HEAR NORMAN ANGELL

PROTEST AGAINST NEAR LOCATION OF CONVICTS

Rome, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Much indignation has been expressed by citizens of the Vans Valley school district about six miles from Rome, because a convict camp has been located within three hundred yards of the school, and convicts—probably trusties—have been seen by the children in the commission of crime.

Such a crime was committed last week by two negroes, one of them a convict, and the other have been placed in jail. Protests were made to the board of roads and revenues of the county in an endeavor to have the location changed.

Amsterdam, February 14.—(Via London.)—A dispatch received here from Vienna says King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has arrived there. He was received at the station by the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, heir apparent to the throne.

REPEAL IS PROPOSED OF FREE SUGAR CLAUSE

Washington, February 14.—The administration's bill providing for repeal of the free sugar clause of the tariff law was introduced in the house today by Majority Leader Kitchin, and was referred to the ways and means committee, of which Mr. Kitchin is chairman.

Mr. Kitchin announced that he would immediately call a caucus of house democrats to pass upon it, and that after the caucus the committee would be called together to vote it out to the house, probably in about ten days. General discussion of revenue legislation is regarded as certain to be precipitated at that time.

Hadley would not continue his campaign for the republican nomination for United States senator was made here tonight on behalf of Mr. Hadley by Jesse Tolerton, of Jefferson City. Two Notable Groups of Suits Ready This Morning

Outstanding Values at $19.50 and $25.00

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Ready-to-Wear Section has scored a WIN in the game of seasonal merchandising. Back of this announcement, waiting for store-opening time this morning, are two groups of suits, more than one hundred fifty in all

One group priced at $19.50 and the other at $25.00 that are, to put it bluntly, worth more, dollars more

Coming right now in what has been called the most strenuous season of the age, so hard is it to get merchandise that even measures up to the values of other seasons, we launch this as a notable event in our store history. For we've done what seemed impossible. We've got BETTER values in this HARD season than we ever got in EASY seasons.

As a rule we prefer making claims to your interest in our merchandise in mild phrases. But this is an exception—the greater-than-usual ECONOMIC VALUE that this event holds for our public leads us to state rather aggressively what it means to them—actual savings on the smart, good looking suits they will want for the new season.

Below we detail a dozen or so styles—these are but a handful compared to the display itself; it is broad and splendid; it is marked by the points that women now know are the favored points of the new styles. There are all sizes—all may profit.

Group I---at $19.50

A black-and-white check suit; the checks are a little larger than usual; has a belt across the front with a quaint little metal hook—a blue faille silk, close-fitting collar, ripple coat, plain yoked skirt. $19.50.

A blue serge is fashioned Norfolk style and shows the use of suede, green, on the collar and cuffs; the skirt is yoked. $19.50.

A gabardine suit, navy, is decidedly smart with a coat belted at the sides and rippling gracefully under the belt. The skirt has two pockets. $19.50.

A Belgian blue poplin suit has a yoked coat which is outlined with a braid embroidery. $19.50.

A silk and serge suit, navy, has a coat caught in at the back with a belt that ripples over the hips. It is edged with the serge, as is the skirt. $19.50.

A navy gabardine—the coat has wide lapels, silk faille collar, self color, double stripe belt, plain, pocketed skirt. $19.50.

The lines of this navy poplin suit are graceful. Caught at the back with a little belt with metal buckle. Sailor collar overlaid with white faille; trimmed with many tiny buttons. A plain skirt. $19.50.

Group II---at $25.00

A navy taffeta-and-serge suit, ripple coat is given a rather distinguished air by the touch of white that appears in the buttons and in a stripe through the center of the belt. The coat and skirt are serge edged. $25.00.

Here's a Norfolk taffeta-and-serge suit; the belt and plaits are of serge; the plaits appear in the skirt as well as in the coat. $25.00.

The "loose fitting" style also is developed in navy taffeta-and-serge; the coat hangs gracefully from the shoulders; wide and loose over the hips. A band of serge at the bottom of coat and skirt. $25.00.

A black taffeta suit has a wide belt of serge, a ripple effect, black silk collar; a wide serge band at bottom of skirt. $25.00.

A navy gabardine—the coat shows a number of plaits in the back; the belt is embroidered in green; has a green flat collar; the skirt is yoked. $25.00.

A black-and-white check suit—the coat falls gracefully and loose from the shoulders; it is pocketed and has a close-fitting collar; the skirt is yoked. $25.00.

The "Rookie" color is found in this suit of gabardine; fashioned Norfolk style, with a quaint and very narrow belt at the sides only, and with a suede collar. The skirt is yoked. $25.00.

VALDOSTA CITIZENS PLAN PACKING HOUSE

Capital Stock to Be $250,000. Over $50,000 Already Subscribed.

Valdosta, Ga., February 14.—An enthusiastic meeting of business men was held at the chamber of commerce to hear the initial report of the committee appointed on the packing house proposition for this city.

C. R. Ashley, chairman of the committee, submitted a written report setting forth the advantages of the plant and favoring its establishment in Valdosta. Subscription lists were opened at the meeting and between $50,000 and $60,000 was subscribed by a number of those present. Others stated that would subscribe to the stock, but were not ready to decide the amount of their subscription.

It was the sense of the meeting that the packing plant should be a community project, and other towns in the county and section will be given an opportunity to come in on the proposition. A telephone message from a prominent citizen at Hahira was received during the time of the meeting stating that the people of that town and community will be glad to subscribe to the stock. It is probable that meetings will be held at Lake Park, Naylor, Hahira and other towns in the interest of the establishment. The capital stock of the company is to be $250,000.

A committee, consisting of D. G. Autry, A. J. Strickland, W. G. Eager, O. K. Jones and H. Y. Tillman, was appointed to make a canvass of the city for stock subscriptions. This committee will begin its work on Tuesday morning, and it is believed will have no trouble in securing the necessary amount. A thorough investigation of the meat packing proposition in other states will be made, and committees will visit the north and west for this purpose.

Every possible stimulus to hog and cattle raising is to be used by the farmers and business men of this section against the coming of the boll weevil, and they are not disposed to sit down and wait until the weevil gets here.

THE "ENDLESS CHAIN" DANGER OF CATARRH

S. S. S. the Proper Safeguard

Catarrh is the offspring of "colds." It is a "cold" in its chronic form. The air is filled with bacteria, which is taken into the mouth and nose through the process of breathing. When the body is in a healthy condition no harm results. But with our modern methods of indoor living and sedentary occupations, the mucous membranes are usually not able to "throw-off" this harmful bacteria, making catarrh a very common ailment. These germs breed and multiply, causing inflammation, the blood rushes to the membranes to fight off the bacilli. When the blood is in a vigorous condition its "defensive" efforts are successful. Otherwise the cold "hangs-on"—turns into catarrh. Catarrh is a chronic inflammation of the mucous membranes. Mucous membranes are the lining on all the internal cavities of the body. Get that—ALL cavities! There is the "endless chain" element of danger. If allowed to run on catarrh will affect not only the nose, but the throat and ear, making you liable to deafness, pulmonary and other troubles. Local applications are useless. The only correct way to treat this dread disease is to purify the blood. The surest way to purify the blood is to take S. S. S., which has been the standard blood medicine for fifty years. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable compound. It will not injure the most delicate stomach. You can get S. S. S. at every reputable drug store. We have an expert Medical Department, which will be glad to give you any special advice you may desire without charge. Write the Swift Specific Company, Dept. 43, Atlanta, Georgia.

Cold in the Chest Often Results in Bronchitis

A cold begins to be bronchitis with tightness across the chest. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey relieves that congested feeling.

When tightness across the chest creates an oppressed feeling, with difficulty in breathing or with soreness and irritability within the chest, it is time to take a Pine-Tar-Honey treatment. During this stage of the disease the membrane has become dry while the phlegm is difficult to raise. The dryness is immediately effected by the moist and penetrating honey qualities and at the same time the pine-tar cuts the phlegm, thus relieving congestion. Pine-tar also acts as an antiseptic. As a result of the general relief that follows, the tissues are strengthened, breathing becomes easier, and further inflammation is arrested. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey will be found an ideal treatment in aiding recovery. Price, 25c.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS BETTER, SAYS HILLYER

"Supply of Farm Loan Money Is Constantly Increasing," Asserts Banker.

Financial conditions and business generally throughout the south are on the upgrade, money is easier for investment of all kinds, and will continue according to leading capitalists and financiers in Atlanta.

Even the European war is beginning indirectly to help the south rather than hold it back. A significant statement in that connection is made by William Hurd Hillyer, investment banker, secretary and treasurer of the Hillyer Mortgage company, and representative of a number of eastern insurance companies and other large lenders.

"The embargo on southern loans, if there ever was such a thing," says Mr. Hillyer, "has been definitely lifted. It has been lifted not only in the field of real estate loans, but collateral loans secured by gilt-edge local bonds and stocks. I find that there is now a better supply of funds than at any time during the past three years.

"Rates are still a trifle firm on long time first mortgages, but short time loans are comparatively easy.

"The supply of farm loan money is constantly increasing, and I do not look for any material advance in farm loan interest rates for some time to come.

"My prediction of this time last year, that the immediate effect of the war would be to increase the supply of money seeking investment instead of to diminish it, has been abundantly verified.

"Choice mortgage money rules at from 5 to 7 per cent, and collateral loans on good bonds and active local stocks at 5 to 6 per cent. There is also a considerable amount of local money seeking investment belonging to individuals."

"Deestrick Skule" Rehearsals Will Begin on Tuesday

The first rehearsal for "The Old Deestrick Skule," to be held tonight at the Auditorium, promises to bring out the greatest array of amateur talent Atlanta has seen in some time, to judge from the testimonials given themselves by several members of the Shrine, who are contesting for the leading parts.

The leading role of the teacher, one of the old field type, is most eagerly sought among the men, for it will give the player opportunity to pay off old scores among his brother members, while the ladies are vieing with one another for the part of Mrs. Honeysuckle, who visits the school. The committee on arrangements will have something of a diplomatic job on its hands.

New "scholars" who entered Monday include James D. Price, commissioner of agriculture, J. Lee Barnes, who demands a prominent speaking part, L. M. Landrum, superintendent of city schools, and others.

The "Deestrick Skule" will be presented on Friday and Saturday nights of next week at the Auditorium to raise funds for sending the Shriner's band to the national conclave at Buffalo, N. Y.

FORMER TREASURY HEAD HERE FOR COURT CASE

In the United States district court yesterday the suit of Leslie M. Shaw against John M. Simonton on a note for $3,500 was begun.

Shaw is former secretary of the treasury of the United States. Simonton is a well-known Atlanta lawyer.

Shaw organized a trust company in Pennsylvania, and Simonton, it is said, was to sell stock. Shaw claims that he advanced Simonton $3,500 and received a note for the amount. The trust company's plan failed to materialize in Georgia, it is said. Simonton refused to return the money, it is claimed, and insisted upon Shaw carrying out his contract.

The case will probably last through today.

MAYOR PREDICTS CROOK PLAY WILL MAKE A BIG HIT

"I am now convinced that the Atlanta newspaper men know as much about portraying crooks in real life as they do about writing about the operations of all sorts of criminals," declared Mayor James G. Woodward at the Piedmont hotel last night after he had witnessed a rehearsal of Paul Armstrong's great play, "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

The performance which is to be staged at the Atlanta theater next Tuesday night for the benefit of the Police Relief association will make Atlanta theatergoers sit up and take notice, according to the mayor. "I've seen lots of amateur shows in my day," continued Mayor Woodward, "but that 'Jimmy Valentine' bunch is quite the cleverest I ever had the pleasure of looking at.

"I wish to say in the behalf of the newspaper men who are staging this production, that the crook play is going to make a great hit, and is something that should not be missed by local theatergoers."

The following is the cast of characters in the Armstrong drama: Handler, warden of Sing Sing prison, Raymond Holton; Smith, his clerk, D. K. Jones; Blickendolfenbach, a German inventor, L. H. Foster; Doyle, a detective, Walter Conklin; Bill Avery, an old offender, James A. Bellflower; Mrs. Webster, of the Gate of Hope society, Miss Lucile Goodrich; Mrs. Moore, of the Gate of Hope society, Miss Mabel Acker; Robert Fay, lieutenant governor of New York, J. Walter LeGraw; Rose Lane, his niece, Miss Elvena Neal; "Flinky" Davis, a forger, Louis Lasky; "Dick the Rat," a sneak thief, Brooks LoVelace; Lee Randle, doing ten years for burglary under the name of Jimmy Valentine, Ward Morehouse; William Lane, an Illinois banker, I. S. Greene; "Red" Joclyn, Valentine's pal, Leslie Rawlings; Kitty, Miss Caroline Wingate; Bobby, Harlee Branch, Jr.; Williams, bank clerk, Rolfe Edmondson. The piece is being produced under the stage direction of S. W. McElroy.

Women Church-Goers Heard Adams Cursing, Say Police Officers

S. O. Adams, of 107 Spring street, was sent to the Tower under a bond of $100 when tried before Recorder Johnson in police court Monday morning, charged with public profanity and with trying to whip the entire police department Sunday morning.

According to Call Officer Grover Fain and Station Sergeant Roberts, Adams had cursed from the time he had been arrested until Monday morning when he sobered enough to be taken into court. Call Officer Fain received a sprained wrist and Sergeant Roberts a bruised finger in a scuffle started by Adams in an alleged effort to whip the officers.

Adams claimed that he had drank some whisky which he thought was doped. He said that he knew nothing of what he had done.

Although Adams' wife refused to testify against him on charges of wife-beating, Recorder Johnson bound the man over for cursing in front of a crowd of women church-goers.

INTEREST DISPLAYED IN AGRICULTURAL CAR

Returning to Atlanta from Molena, Dr. H. G. Carnes, president of the Georgia State Veterinary association, reported that the Southern railway's agricultural and dairy car is arousing great interest throughout the territory which it is traversing.

At Molena Saturday, the officers in charge of the car and others interested in approved methods of dairying and farming, were the guests of C. P. Jordan at a turkey dinner at the latter's home. A number of short speeches were made at the car and at the schoolhouse dealing with agricultural topics.

DISTILLERY LOCATED BENEATH FIREPLACE

County police and members of the internal revenue agent's force last night affected the arrest of Marvin McGee, who is said to have operated a distillery in his own home near Adamsville in a clever manner.

Officers stated after the arrest that the distillery was found under the hearth in the McGee living room and that fifteen barrels of beer were stored in the room. The still, it is said, was so arranged that the smoke went through the same chimney which served the fireplace.

McGee was brought to Atlanta after the raid and was taken to the county jail.

Grand Opera House Closed For Rent.

Macon, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Macon theatergoers were disappointed tonight when the Shuberts, who closed the Grand theater last week because Jake Wells, the lessee, had failed to pay up back rent, refused to permit the comic opera, "Nobody Home," to appear at the theater. The Shuberts had given Mr. Wells until this morning to pay up the rent, and when he failed to do so a lock was placed on the door. It is not known whether the theater will open again this season.

LOCAL ENGINEERS WIN OWENSBORO CONTRACT

Solomon-Norcross Co. Elected Consulting Engineers for New Sewer System.

Paul H. Norcross, of Solomon-Norcross company, local civil, structural and hydraulic engineers, announced yesterday that his firm has been selected by the councilmanic body of the city of Ownesboro, Ky., as consulting engineers for the construction of a new sewer system in that city, the compensation to be approximately $10,000.

The city council of Ownesboro has also passed an ordinance for issuance of $225,000 of bonds for this sewer work. The Atlanta firm is now preparing detail plans and specifications for the drainage of the districts of Ownesboro now unaccommodated by existing sewers. Following the preparation of these plans, Solomon-Norcross company will advise with the city authorities of the Kentucky city relative to letting the contracts. They will then have supervision of the actual construction of the sewers, which, it has been announced, will require about sixteen months of work, under favorable weather condition.

The Atlanta engineers were selected from a large number of bidders, and only after a fight upon the councilmanic floor which waged for more than an hour. Their keenest competitor was a St. Louis engineer.

Solomon-Norcross company were recently awarded the contract for construction at Lexington, Ky., of a $350,000 sewer project.

The Messenger, a daily paper of Owensboro, said of the Atlanta engineers:

"Their credentials for ability to do the work for the city of Owensboro were of the highest."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons, gases, toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

WIDESPREAD PLOT AGAINST CHURCHES

Alleged to Have Caused the Poisoning of Soup at Archbishop's Banquet — Anarchists Said to Be in Plot.

Chicago, February 14.—Captain Nicholas Hunt, of the detective bureau, who is directing the search for Jean Crones, the missing assistant chef who is suspected of having poisoned the soup served at a banquet to Archbishop Mundelein here last Thursday, said tonight that the search has developed the existence of a gang of fifteen anarchists whose grudge lay principally against the church and church men. He said that he had the names of most of the members and that detectives have been instructed to search for them.

Captain Hunt named Frank Allegrini, in whose rooms anarchistic letters and literature were found, as one of the men. The names of the alleged anarchists are said to have been taken from these letters. They were written in 1913 and are said to disclose a widespread plot, extending to Rome, Italy, to destroy churches and church property of all creeds.

Efforts to Organize Branches.

According to Detective Sergeant Paul Riccio, who aided in translating the letters from the Italian in which they were written, the headquarters of the society was in Rome. Efforts were made, it was said, to organize branches of the society all over the world. In the United States public buildings were to receive the attention of the anarchists in addition to the churches. Most of the letters were without signatures.

One, dated Chicago, March 24, 1913, was addressed to "Dear Allegrini." Another was dated "Salida, Colo., September 18," and was addressed to "Dear Frank." It was signed "Joseph Folallidini." Still another was addressed to "Dear Cousin" from "Piqua, Ohio, May 20, 1913."

The first of the letters, unaddressed and unsigned, goes into details of a bomb invented by the writer.

"This," says the letter, "will be a fine thing to throw among a lot of religious people when they go out dressed in their best clothes on the boulevards to talk the sermon over."

The second letter mentioned the receipt of a letter from Allegrini.

"I read your letter and am glad you are taking interest," it said, "but I will recommend you to be careful with your pals, because there may be some traitors among them who cannot tell a lie to fool justice."

Things Pretty Bad.

The third letter, which was written from Salida, said:

"I have sent your trunk. Things are pretty bad here. The strike is pretty hot, but your trunk was in good hands all the time. That dirty —— Machi has made a report that you (blank space) and they are looking for you and I beg you to be careful and let me know if you are in a safe place. I will let you know why when I write again. Let me know if you are going to Barre, Vt. Then you will give me (blank space). Let me know something of what is doing over there. Mut Nicholson is working over here with Nic Miller and yesterday they fired Miller. I don't know the reason why. Perhaps the reason is that he wanted to kill Rizzi." This letter was signed "Folallidini."

The Piqua letter mentions a person named "Fornara" and speaks of the trunk containing "all those letters and papers" as having been under water for thirteen days. They were ruined by the water, the letter says.

Most of the letters were not made public. All, it was said, showed blank spaces which apparently were underscored by the correspondents.

Several maps and drawings were found. They were said to indicate that the plotters had designs on the People's Gas Light and Coke company building in Chicago and other costly structures. Captain Hunt expressed the opinion that the attempt to wreck St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in New York some time ago probably was part of the general plot of the anarchists.

After reading the translations Captain Hunt sent telegrams to Nashville, Tenn.; Salida, Colo.; St. Paul and St. Louis asking that search be made for Crones. Allegrini, a friend of Crones, when asked concerning the letters said that only three of them were his. He denied that he was an anarchist or implicated on any illegal plot.

DANIELS IS ATTACKED AS UNFIT FOR PLACE

Pittsburg, Pa., February 14.—Secretary Daniels was taken to task by S. Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security league, in an address at the annual banquet of the Engineers' society of western Pennsylvania here tonight for planning "to give us a promissory note for a navy, payable in ten years, with installments maturing about five years from date of congressional enactment."

"It is apparent that the secretary of the navy has not understood the situation as now sensed by the president," continued Mr. Menken. "Nor has he had the inspiration or judgment to recognize the greatness of his task and bring to his aid industrial leaders capable of handling great enterprises. Mr. Daniels has shown no fitness for his position, nor title to continue it. I say this because at the present juncture, with no politics but preparedness, no creed but America, we must feel it the proper time to ask if the American people show their belief in Mr. Wilson by re-electing him, whether four years more of Mr. Wilson means four years more of Mr. Daniels.

"This is of the gravest moment to those of us who, while recognizing Mr. Daniels' many amiable qualities and political record, feel his control of the upbuilding of our navy and its personnel is a menace to national safety."

SETTING OF PRIMARY BEGETS CANDIDATES

Americus, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Sumter county politics has warmed up almost in a day, for, immediately following the naming of the primary date for March 15, by the Sumter county executive committee, there came a long list of announcements with the end not yet in sight. John T. Howell, who announced that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself as tax receiver, has already seven candidates seeking his position. They are C. W. Henderson, Will H. Chappell, J. F. Chapman, Charles M. Williams, S. Hugh Ferguson, W. C. Gray, J. S. Glover.

The only opposed incumbent thus far in the races is Zach Childers, solicitor of the city court, the other candidates being Thomas O. Marshall and C. R. Winchester.

The other candidates are John A. Cobb for ordinary; H. E. Allen, for clerk of the superior court; Lucius Harvey, for sheriff; W. S. Moore, for county school superintendent; E. L. Wilson, R. S Oliver and Joel W. Hightower, for county commissioners; Ed Jenkins, for coroner.

It is possible that Brown Small will announce his candidacy for re-election as tax collector; Judge William M. Harper, for judge of the city court.

The primary date places the election one of the shortest in the history of the county, and no time has been wasted in announcing and beginning the campaign for offices.

NET OF CIRCUMSTANCES CLOSING ABOUT LOVER

Evidence That Orpet Bought Poison Before Last Meeting With Girl He Betrayed.

Chicago, February 14.—A two-ounce bottle, purchased at Madison, Wis., and poison crystals found burned in an ash heap of the suburb of Lake Forest, are believed by Lake county, Illinois, authorities to form an important link in the circumstantial evidence involving William H. Orpet, University of Wisconsin student, who is under arrest charged with causing the death of Miss Marian Frances Lambert, the 18-year-old high school girl.

Charles W. Hassinger, a clerk employed in the Tiedman pharmacy at Madison, said today that he sold an empty two-ounce bottle to Orpet at noon on Tuesday. It was on this day that the collegian came to Lake Forest. The next day he had his tryst with his former sweetheart.

Buried the Poison.

Search of the ash pile resulted from information received by State's Attorney Dady. It was on the estate of Cyrus H. McCormick, of which Orpet's father, O. E. Orpet, is superintendent. An under-gardener admitted that he buried the poison under orders from the senior Orpet.

"On today's developments we are ready to go to trial," said Mr. Dady. "I am convinced that the bottle purchased by young Orpet is the one in which the deadly poison was contained. Young Orpet slept Tuesday night in a garage on the McCormick estate. The poison used for spraying plans was accessible. The cabinet in which it was kept was broken open. We have not found the bottle, although the poison was of a nature so deadly that death must have come to Miss Lambert before she could throw it away. A grain of the stuff is sufficient to cause instant death. Orpet has confessed that he stood beside her and saw her die. On these facts we are ready to go to trial."

Although Miss Lambert is said to have been confronted with the fear of motherhood in September, she was not in this condition at the time of her death, the autopsy showed, but told Orpet she was in the hope that he would remain true to her.

Parents of Girl.

The parents of the girl disclaimed today any desire to release Orpet from custody and urged that the law be permitted to take its course.

Although the nature of the poison which caused the girl's death has been determined by an incomplete analysis of the stomach, the officers are at a loss to account for the container.

In the sixty letters which passed between the girl and Orpet—thirty-five written by him and twenty-five by her—the romance of the two has been traced from its inception to the time of the tragedy.

The letters are said to indicate that the girl's condition alarmed them last September. His letters became cooler and less frequent. Finally came the letter in which Orpet told of his love for Miss Celestia Youker, a normal school teacher of DeKalb, Ill. Miss Lambert wrote several letters after that begging not to be cast off. The last of his letters made arrangements for the fatal tryst at Lake Forest.

Miss Youker is said to be seriously ill of valvular heart trouble. She has not been told of Orpet's predicament.

He Died at the Throttle.

Jackson, Miss., February 14.—David Coker, aged 60, an engineer on the Alabama and Vicksburg railroad for the past twenty-five years, died suddenly at the throttle of his engine last night between here and Brandon. His fireman notified the conductor, who ran where another engineer was secured from a freight train. Coker lived at Meridian, Miss.

Prisoner Moved to Atlanta.

Columbus, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—An order was received this afternoon by Deputy Clerk N. A. Brown to remove J. Reed McClain in jail here for the last three weeks under a charge of violating the white slave law, to Atlanta.

$300,000 FOR FIGHT ON THE CITRUS CANKER

Washington, February 14.—An appropriation of $300,000 for the eradication of the citrus canker in the east gulf states was among the items of a conference report on a $13,000,000 urgent deficiency bill concurred in by the senate late today. The greater part of the $300,000 is to be used in work in Florida, the legislature of which has appropriated large sums for this work.

Other items of the bill concurred in provide $2,000,000 for the Alaskan railroad, $200,000 for repairing aids to navigation in the Gulf of Mexico destroyed by a hurricane, and $100,000 to continue an investigation of Alaska's mineral resources. Senator Newlands fought the report all day in an unsuccessful attempt to eliminate $600,000 for a District of Columbia electric plant, which he argued would mar the beauty of the capital.

LEWIS WOULD MODIFY DOCTRINE OF MONROE

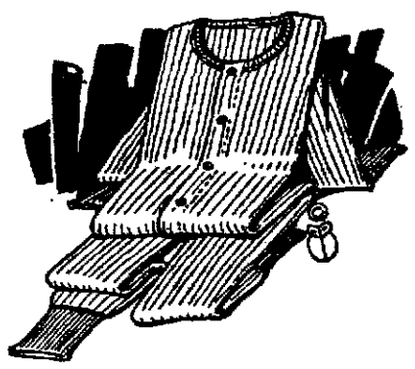

Chicago, February 14.—A suggestion that the Monroe Doctrine ought to be modified was made in an address before the Chicago Law association tonight by Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

"Let us declare the Monroe Doctrine to be modified to mean that only when South America asks our interference with any European people as to grievances shall we intrude; that only when a country of kingly rule attempts to place its royal government in power in South or Central America will the Monroe Doctrine be asserted," he said. "Let this doctrine be known as the 'American doctrine.' Let us add to this a new policy of making alliances with Central American countries of a reciprocal nature that will allow the United States to participate in the enjoyment of naval bases and coaling stations in each of these countries where the same is open to water attack."

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

With another lynching in Twiggs county last week Georgia now has a record of an average of one a week since the beginning of the new year. If this rate is maintained, it is easy to see how the state may double and even treble her performance of last year, when she surpassed every other state in the union in her exhibitions of mob violence.

Georgians, of course, are not going to permit this sort of thing to go on! Public sentiment, already awakened, needs to be aroused to determined action. The very force of it must compel official and legislative action.

Over in South Carolina, when there is a lynching, the governor has the power and authority to remove the sheriff from office at once, and explanation or excuse comes afterward. This law, which has had a beneficial effect in the direction intended, is founded upon the fact that when there is an exhibition of mob violence, it is prima facie evidence that somebody has failed to do his duty. It has proven that where the governor has power to remove the county officer charged with keeping the peace, before explanations are in order, there is considerably more diligence in preventing mob violence, and there is, accordingly, less of it.

The governor may reinstate the sheriff, if he makes out a satisfactory case and shows clearly he was not responsible; but where a sheriff and his friends know he is liable to lose his office unless mobs are kept down, the state is naturally going to get substantial and beneficial results.

The Georgia laws, strangely enough, appear to be made in favor of the lynchers. If Georgia sheriffs were put on their mettle the same as those of South Carolina, it cannot be questioned that there would be a material decrease in Georgia's mob law record.

One of the worst features from the standpoint of this state now is not so much the criticism from those of the north and east, but from our own neighbors right here at home. In commenting on the accuracy of The Constitution's repeated prediction that continued demonstrations of mob violence for any cause would lead to lynchings for lesser offenses, The Columbia (S. C.) State says it looks as if Georgia was developing a set of "contemptible cowards," and that after awhile, if permitted to continue, the lynching mania will ultimately undermine the civilization of the state.

If such comment is directed at us by those of our own flesh and blood, we can scarcely be surprised at anything those at a distance may say or think of us.

Isn't it time for Georgia's conscience to spur the manhood of the state to action, and to call the politicians from out of the cellars?

CONGRESS MUST ACT!

If those states which have adopted prohibition laws really want effective prohibition they are big and strong and numerous enough to demand and get from the congress of the United States such legislation as will protect them in the enforcement of their local statutes.

Senator Dillingham, of Vermont, has introduced in congress a measure that goes to the very core of the question. It seeks to confine liquor manufacturing, liquor selling and liquor circularizing of all kinds to those states which want it, and it would keep them out of those states which have legislated against them.

As long as congress does not enact some measure along these lines, local and state prohibition laws will be largely nullified. Practically every state which has enacted drastic prohibition legislation has been careful to allow the usual per capita consumption, or more, to be shipped in to individual consumers.

Here is the loophole in the law which makes prohibition very much of a travesty. It is possible this is necessary under present federal laws, in order to preserve the validity of the statutes enacted by the states. This makes it all the more necessary, if the prohibition states want prohibition and are to have it, that congress should provide the means of making it effective.

Under the Dillingham measure congress could easily put it within the power of the states to say whether they want prohibition or not. This measure would confine the liquor traffic in its every aspect within state lines. The state that wanted it could keep it; the state that didn't want it would not be flooded with liquor or liquor circulars from without.

There is not going to be any fair test of real prohibition legislation until congress, by some such enactment, paves the way for real enforcement of the state laws.

THE HOME OWNER'S PROBLEM.

We publish today a discussion of the home owner's problem by W. D. Beatie, based on an experience of twenty-eight years in supplying homes on the monthly payment plan, with payments ranging all the way from $6 to $50 per month.

Mr. Beatie deals with the problem from a strictly business standpoint, bringing out forcibly the intrinsic value of the home purchase plan as compared with that of the renter.

The question of home ownership has another and an equally, if not more, important aspect, and that is its effect upon the individual himself. Home ownership unquestionably strengthens self-reliance and self-respect; it not only makes one a better man and a better citizen, but it inspires a greater degree of community confidence in him, which is by no means the least among valuable assets.

If there were only this in the investment, it would be well worth the while. But, viewing it purely from the commercial side, there is enough in the argument to impel any well balanced man of family to proceed upon an investment basis, particularly with the extraordinary opportunities Atlanta now offers to secure his own home.

The man who pays rent today is just as surely paying taxes, insurance and repair bills upon the house in which he lives as if it stood in his own name. More than that, he is paying the owner of the property a substantial rate of interest upon his investment in it.

The man who pays rent is paying as much, or nearly as much, and in some instances even more, than he would have to pay in monthly installments in the acquirement of his own home.

In either event he is throwing away his opportunity to acquire something of his own. At the end of the month the renter has nothing to show for his payment, except that he had shelter for himself and family. At the end of the month the home purchaser has acquired an equity in a piece of property, which grows in value with every payment until, at the end of a few years, it is wholly his.

Looked at simply from the standpoint of transforming rent payments into savings, it is important enough to induce to action. But there is yet another side to it, that of investment. It would mean saving against a rainy day, even if there were no opportunity for enhancement. But such a thing is not to be considered in connection with Atlanta property. It grows and continues to grow in value, and this will always be true in any carefully chosen location.

There is, therefore, an unquestioned earning power added to the important principle of saving. When the payments are completed, the home owner has a piece of property that is worth more than the price he paid for it.

Considered only from the commercial standpoint, there is every good reason why the Atlanta man of family should buy his own home. But when there is added to it the other aspect of character-strengthening and increased confidence, the argument becomes wholly unanswerable.

Perhaps if we got up a spelling and defining bee for the benefit of Berlin the comment would be, "Buzz, buzz!"

Sometimes diplomacy doesn't think it's the real thing if it doesn't make its case as clear as muddled water.

It might help some if England would send a few more of her eminent advisers on long traveling expeditions.

MAYOR WILL APPOINT DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION OF MAYORS

Here's a chance for some patriotic citizens to represent Atlanta in one of the most distinguished gatherings that has been held in the nation in a long while.

Mayor Woodward is anxious to appoint some fifteen or twenty Atlantans to attend the convention in St. Louis on March 3 and 4 which is to take some action on preparedness.

The convention has been called for all the mayors of the country, and with them they are to take as many other delegates as possible.

Of course, the delegates must pay their own way. Mayor Woodward is seeking to name such delegates as will represent the best interests of Atlanta.

WANTS MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL TO STAND RIGID EXAMINATION

Mayor Woodward is for civil service for all city employees, if—

That "if" spells a whole lot, for he wants all the candidates for the mayor and general council to stand a civil service examination before they will be eligible for election.

"I want every man who offers for mayor or council to stand a rigid examination as to his mental qualifications," states the mayor. "I want such candidates to go before a commission to show that they are men of sound mind and honest purpose and who will have sense enough to minister the affairs of the city on a good and safe business basis. If we can have such civil service, it will be dead easy to get good men all along down the line."

COUNCIL COMMITTEES TO MEET TO MAKE REPORTS THIS WEEK

Nearly all of the important committees of council will meet this week to get reports ready for council which meets next Monday.

Now that the January finance sheet has been adopted and is in force, such committees as those on streets, sewers, litigation, electric lights and bridges, will have some money to spend.

Tuesday afternoon the committees on sewers, ordinance and electric lights will meet at 3 o'clock.

CITY OFFICIALS OF AUGUSTA PAY A VISIT TO THE MAYOR

E. O. Cooper, superintendent of streets, and W. H. Wise, assistant city engineer of Augusta, were in Atlanta yesterday and paid a visit to the mayor's office under the escort of the chief of construction, Nym Hurt, and Councilman J. N. Renfroe, chairman of the council committee on streets.

The Augusta officials inspected Atlanta's streets and said they found them in excellent condition except where the old pavement had worn out.

MAYOR WILL PROBABLY VETO REPEAL OF NON-RESIDENT LAW

Council will probably have another veto from the mayor to act upon next Monday when his message is read in regard to the repeal of the ordinance requiring city employees to live inside the city limits.

The mayor has said he believed the repeal of the ordinance was unwise and that such action will interfere with the civil service regulation in the police department.

He says that the ordinance carried a provision whereby any special exemptions could be made by the mayor and council.

Proposes Plan to Revive American Merchant Marine

Editor Constitution: As large manufacturers in the center part of the United States, but very little interested in export business and not at all in shipbuilding business, yet we are enthusiastic believers that the United States should have the largest navy in the world, as well as the largest merchant marine.

We have a plan for building this merchant marine, which would cost the government and the people nothing and enable any established shipping company or new company desiring to enter the field, to secure ships for the purpose of carrying freight or passengers, at a price per year, for twenty-five years, of not over 5.8 per cent of the cost of the ship. The specifications of these ships to be mutually agreed upon between the company and the government.

To accomplish this, the government should issue bonds to cover the cost of as many ships as desired, 20 per cent of these bonds to be payable in five years, 20 per cent of these bonds to be payable in ten years, 20 per cent of these bonds to be payable in fifteen years, 20 per cent of these bonds to be payable in twenty years, 20 per cent of these bonds to be payable in twenty-five years. Now, if the rate of interest to be paid on these bonds would be as high at 3 per cent, the shipping company, by paying 4 per cent on the cost of the ship for twenty-five years and the 3 per cent interest carrying charges for the proportion of bonds due each year, the first five years they would pay $7,000 yearly on each $100,000 cost of ship; second five years $6,400 yearly, third five years $5,800 yearly, fourth five years $5,200 yearly, fifth five years $4,600 yearly. An average of 5.8 per cent of cost of ship yearly for twenty-five years, at the end of which they receive clear title to the ship.

The company is to keep the ship to a certain degree of repair, under government inspection, also the usual insurance to be carried on the ship and the expense of this to be paid for by the company, and bond given to the government for all of its obligations.

The government is to have the right to call for these ships at any time in case of war, and during the period of its holding the ship, there should be no expense to the company, and in case the ship is not returned to the company, the government to refund the 4 per cent paid on the principal.

The government should repeal the present law regulating wages, so that the company has entire control of regulating not only the wages of at least the common seamen, but also to regulate its own freight charges, working under the United States anti-trust laws, same as any other corporation. The shipping company should, of course, be only an American corporation or individual. Under these conditions the shipping company should be able to secure ships without the necessity of raising a large capital and under conditions which would be most advantageous to themselves, particularly if they could regulate their own management of the ship. The government should have no control of the ship employees, except that a certain number of the officers should be trained navy men.

On this basis the government would have no expense whatever for this class of ship during times of peace. The people could have no objection to this plan, as they would have to pay no taxes in connection with same, only in time of war. The shipping company, by receiving a clear title to the ship at the end of the twenty-five years will have an extra inducement to keep the ship in as good repair as possible and being able to regulate its own wages and freight charges, will be able to compete with the world.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY A HOME AND SHARE IN ATLANTA'S PROGRESS

Editor Constitution: It was in June, 1888, that I began selling homes on the monthly payment plan as a side line to my regular business. At that time and for many years afterwards, I was the only person here who could offer such terms. During these years I have sold many hundreds of homes to all classes of people, from the humble day laborer to the high salaried office man, and on terms from $6.00 a month to $50.00 a month, with interest included in the monthly payments and with interest added to the payments, and I believe that I have learned some few things about the business.

My experience shows that taking the average of conditions no man should obligate himself to pay more than one-fourth of his monthly income for a home. In other words, if he is making $10 a week, he can pay $10 a month for his home. If he is making $25 a week he can pay $25 a month for a home, and so on, and he should not undertake to pay more. If he buys on that basis he is reasonably sure to finish his payments and in due time own the property. If he has only the normal amount of sickness, idleness, etc., he will get through without great privation; if he has less than the normal he will get through and will not miss the money; if he has more than usual sickness, idleness and misfortune, he will have a hard struggle, but he can get through. If he obligates himself to pay more a month on his home than his salary per week, he is almost sure to fall down on his payments and lose the place.

No salaried man ought, under any circumstances, to buy on monthly payments an old house or a place carrying a mortgage. The repairs on an old house added to his monthly payments will be too heavy for him to carry, and the amount necessary for repairs being an unknown quantity, is a great burden. Even if the house has been gone over and all apparent repairs made, still it is unsafe because new needs are developed day by day and more and more repairs become necessary. A well-built house only a few years old might be bought at a bargain, but a house over ten years old should not be considered at any price no matter how well built it may seem to be.

The Trouble With Mortgages.

The salaried man should not consider for a moment the carrying of a mortgage in addition to his monthly payments, because, first, it makes the property cost him more than if there were no mortgage. A simple calculation will convince anyone that to carry part of the purchase money as a time loan, paying interest on it until the monthly payments are made, renewing it and paying it off in monthly payments will make the property cost much more than if the monthly payments alone are carried and met month by month as agreed. Again, mortgages have a habit of falling due and very few, if any, salaried men are prepared to pay out a thousand or more dollars in a lump after struggling with monthly payments regularly for some years. Consequently, the mortgage must be renewed or the property lost. There are times when a mortgage cannot be renewed, or if renewed, it is at a heavy interest rate and a commission which usually adds 1 per cent to the interest paid. I am sure that more than half the homes under mortgage bought by salaried men are never paid for, but are lost on account of the weight of the burden undertaken.

The plan of averaging the interest and adding it to the payments so that the purchaser has the same amount to pay each month as long as the contract runs, is unwise, for the reason that the purchaser in that case is paying interest before it is earned for the first half of the contract period; and if, for any reason, he should lose the place, he loses just that much more money. To illustrate, suppose the payments are $25 a month for eight years with interest from date until paid at 7 per cent per annum. The interest on $25 at that rate for eight years is $14, so that his last note will be $39, and if averaged for the entire time will be $32 a month. Thus, for the first year he is paying something over $70 interest that is not earned, a less amount each succeeding year, but a total of quite a large sum; while, if the payments are not averaged, it will be four years before they amount to as much as $32 a month, and if, in the fifth and sixth year they become so large as to be burdensome, a loan can be placed at the purchaser's convenience, the balance due on the property paid and only the loan left to carry. This loan can be placed on monthly payments which would be much less than $32, or it can be made a time loan for say five years, an account opened in a savings bank and money deposited which will earn 4 per cent until enough is accumulated to pay the loan at maturity.

Possibly it might be cheaper to pay rent than it is to own property in a dead town where there is no enhancement in value, but certainly no sane person will say any such thing about Atlanta property. That opinion arises from the mistaken idea that the tenant does not pay taxes, insurance and repairs on the property he occupies while the home-owner does. Certainly no tenant is so foolish as to believe that the rent he pays does not cover taxes, insurance and repairs as well as a percentage to the landlord on the value of the property while the landlord receives all the enhancement. Consequently the tenant bears the same expenses as the home-owner without any of the benefits which the home-owner enjoys.

No "Quitter" Should Buy.

Suppose a person begins to buy a home on monthly payments and after some months or years finds himself unable to meet his notes, what then? He would be exactly in the position of a man who started to swim across a river and his strength gave out before he succeeded. The benefits arising from buying a home as in all lines of human endeavor are for the man who perseveres and succeeds. The Lord Himself despises a "quitter," and the glorious promises in the Bible are made to those who "overcome." Still there are opportunities even in such cases to save something from the wreckage. The purchaser has an equity equal to the amount he has paid which he can sell and usually realize something for it. His contract usually gives him the right to live in the property a certain length of time free of rent; and if his inability to pay is the result of misfortune, and not neglect or carelessness, he can usually make a satisfactory adjustment with the owner of his notes.

But take the worst view of it and suppose he gets nothing back, what has he lost? Crediting himself with the rental value of the property for the time he has occupied it, usually he has lost very little money, and to offset that, he has had the opportunity to own a home which he would not have had if he had continued to pay rent. But suppose he loses some money, is that any different from any other failure? If he engages in business and fails, does he not lose money? If he engages in any trade or profession and fails, does he not lose money which would have been his if he had succeeded? I maintain that less money is lost in proportion to amount invested in buying a home on reasonable payments without a mortgage, than in any other business undertaking.

Yet the great advantage from a monetary standpoint in owning a home in Atlanta is that it gives a share in the results of every effort put forth by any person to help the growth of Atlanta. Every effort by any person to build up his own business or develop his own section of the city increases the property values in the entire city and this increase is shared to some extent by every property owner and not by any renter. Of course, some sections benefit more than others, and the prospective buyer should use his judgment and locate in the section which offers the best inducements. Still the fact remains that these benefits accrue to the property owner and not to the rent payer.

If a person could have every man in Atlanta working for him, he would get rich, and I maintain that the owner of Atlanta property shares in the profits arising from the work of every man in Atlanta who, in developing his own business develops the city, or who by his efforts directly aids the growth of the city.

Certainly no safer, saner or more sure plan of sharing in this increase in value can be found than that of using the necessary expense of rent to buy a home and a share in Atlanta's future.

FOODS They Build or Destroy

Amazing But Rarely Suspected Truths About the Things You Eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN

(Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER XVIII.

A single drop of blood with its red and white corpuscles, containing potassium, sodium, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium, sulphur, iron, etc., is sufficient to confound all the wisdom of the world.

We have seen the minerals that are present in the internal secretions of the body.

It is evident that these minerals are not present through the operation of any blind accident. It is just as evident that a profound intelligence has regulated their presence and proportions. In the clearly disclosed evidences of that intelligence we behold the workmanship of God.

Alfred W. McCann.

Water forms about three-fourths of the weight of the adult body and is the medium in which the chemical changes of the body are carried on.

We could transfer an iron tank filled with pure sulphuric acid from San Francisco to New York and back again and the acid would not affect the tank in any manner. But if we introduced water into that tank the acid would immediately become active and destroy the tank.

In the case of the plant water is so necessary that without it no plant life can exist. Plants that have but a single cell, which are not actually immersed in water, are generally to be found in more or less moist situations where they continually obtain supplies of water from dew or rain.

In times of drought they are seriously injured. The young cell which is inclosed with a cell membrane speedily shows a tendency to accumulate water in its interior. Gradually drops of water appear, until ultimately a vacuole, which is always full of liquid, is formed.

In the plant which consists of a number of cells such a vacuole is found in every adult cell as long as it is living. In other words, healthy protoplasm must always be in direct contact with water. It is only while saturated with water that the active life of protoplasm can exist.

With very rare exceptions, if a cell is once completely dried, even at a low temperature, its life is gone and restoration of water fails to enable it to recover.

The life of a plant is intimately connected with the renewal of the water which its cells contain. Fresh liquid must be constantly taken in, and that which is already there must, to a certain extent, be removed. The plant demands, in fact, a kind of circulation of water, and this becomes the more imperative as the growth of the plant increases.

It has been proved that protoplasm, which, as we have seen, is the active substance found in every living cell of plant or animal, draws its nutriment eventually from the water which comes to it.

It has also been established that protoplasm must return to this water such waste products as it gives off.

It must obtain its oxygen, for instance, from water, for this element can only pass into the interior of a cell through the liquid which enters that cell. Thus we see that water, too, is wonderful medium through which to convey the forces of life.

It is not difficult to believe, therefore, that the body of a man weighing 160 pounds, made up of more than 100 pounds of water, contains all that water as the result of a fixed law.

Of the solid matter to be found in the human body about one-fifth is made up of the minerals—iron, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, manganese, sodium, sulphur, silicon, fluorine, iodine and chlorine.

Chlorides and phosphates with carbonates and sulphates form the chief of these mineral salts, as far as weight is concerned, but some of the salts which appear in mere traces, such as fluorine and iodine, have essential functions to perform, and without them there is much evidence to support the assertion that human life could not exist.

One of humanity's most conspicuous sins of omission or neglect has been its failure reverently to consider the majesty, the dignity and the complexity of the human body, which, considered apart from the human soul, is the most majestic work of creation. Let us for instance examine a little detail of that majestic creation.

If we put a trace of blood under the microscope an astonishing picture is witnessed. Hundreds of little corpuscles are seen swimming about. Most of them are red, but a considerable number are white.

A single drop of blood contains so many millions of corpuscles, far more than all the visible stars in the sky, that less than a hundredth part of a drop, the merest trace, must be used on the field under the objective in order that we may see anything at all.

The red and white corpuscles alone are sufficient to confound all the wisdom of the world, but they are not the only things discovered in that fragment of a drop of blood.

In addition to them we find the salts that we have seen, such as iron, calcium, phosphorus, sodium, potassium, magnesium, sulphur, chlorine and many other compounds which we shall not consider here.

These substances are always found when pure and normal blood is examined, so that it is evident that they must get into the blood through some definite channel and in obedience to some well defined law. It has been established on many occasions by scientific investigators that the red and white corpuscles have certain well defined work to do. It is also evident that anything which interferes with their work or keeps them out of the blood is an enemy of life.

To make that marvellously complex solution which we have seen fit to call blood, nature obtains her building materials from food. Let us emphasize this fact over and over again. We can never attach to it too great an importance. The character of the blood depends upon the character of the food supplied to the digestive organs. What kind of blood is supplied to the nearly 400,000 children under ten years of age who die every year in the United States? We shall soon know.

CAPITOL GOSSIP

NEW BRUNSWICK WANTS GEORGIA PROHIBITION

Georgia's fame as a state which has enacted a prohibition law with "teeth" is not confined to the bounds of this country. Evidence of the truth of that statement was contained in a letter received by the governor Monday from Barister Stephen B. Bustin, of Saint John, New Brunswick, master of the supreme court.

Mr. Bustin writes that the prohibition question in his province is one which has raised an interesting issue, and he has been selected to draft a suitable law providing for the prohibition of traffic in and the manufacture of whisky. He states that he has received information to the effect that this state's new law will make Georgia a dry state in reality, and he asks that any literature which may have been prepared dealing with the law be forwarded, together with a copy of the enactment.

The desired information was forwarded to Mr. Bustin Monday from the governor's office.

COMMISSIONER PRICE IS SUFFERING WITH THE GRIP

Commissioner J. D. Price, of the department of agriculture, was absent from his office at the state capitol Monday, being confined to the Robertson sanitarium with an attack of grip.

Reports from the commissioner's bedside Monday night were to the effect that he was resting comfortably and that hopes are entertained for his early recovery.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED BY THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Governor Nat E. Harris Monday accepted the resignation of W. D. Gilkerson as a member of the board of roads and revenues of Chattooga county. No reason was given for the resignation, although the retiring member of the board asked that he be relieved of his duties without delay, stating that he desires to give up the work immediately. The request was granted.

AUTHORITY IS GRANTED FOR INCREASED CAPITAL

The secretary of state Monday granted to the Oglethorpe Savings and Trust company permission to increase its capital stock from $125,000 to $250,000.

DEPARTMENT STORES.

BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Department stores were invented in the country villages, each of which has its "general store," in which clothing, plows, butter, coffins, magazines and ice cream are dispensed. But of late years they have been so greatly enlarged and improved by the great cities that the visitors from the rural districts do not know them and are greatly impressed by the novelty of the idea.

A department store is a mass meeting of various businesses under one roof, which makes it possible for one to buy fish, fiddles and fire extinguishers without hoisting an umbrella between each purchase. Department stores also sell goods very cheaply and never charge $3 for an article when they can mark it down to $2.96 and hold a great clearance sale. This policy has made these stores immensely popular and they have grown until some of them are as large as the Rock of Gibraltar and would undertake cheerfully to put in a full stock of these rocks in their basement notions departments if there was any call for them.

Department stores sell dry goods, jewelry, clothing, horse blankets, cough syrup, canned soup, aeroplanes, false teeth, automobiles, cement walks, milch cows, motor boats, fancy vests, lightning rods, radium, artificial legs, piano players, celluloid ears, lingerie, tooth brushes, elephant soap, diamond tiaras, rat poison, family trees, hull trees and other articles too numerous to mention, but all set forth in large-page advertisements which have made these stores the greatest patrons of literature in modern times. A medium-sized department store is a block square and twelve stories high, with restaurants, rest-rooms, moving pictures, house physicians, guides, subways stations, chapels, hospital, morgues and recreation parks on the roof. The greatest display of department stores in Chicago is on the east side of State street, which is twelve stories high for half a mile and is never finished because there is always a grand opening sale at one end and a grand enlargement slaughter sale at the other.

Men are not so partial to these stores.

Department stores are greatly beloved by women because of their bargain sales, which are held at special hours and form a charming substitute for football, which is making athletes of American women. Men are not so partial to these stores, because of the great cruelties practiced on them by their wives. It is no uncommon thing to see an American man stand in the silk department of a department store for two hours with his arms full of bargains, waiting just a minute for his wife, who is trying on hats in the millinery department eight floors up and half a block southeast.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

THE HAS-BEENS.

I read the papers every day, and oft encounter tales which show there's hope for every jay who in life's battle fails. I've just been reading of a gent who joined the has-been ranks, at fifty years without a cent, or credit at the banks. But undismayed he buckled down, refusing to be beat, and captured fortune and renown; he's now in Easy street. Men say that fellows down and out ne'er leave the rocky track, but facts will show, beyond a doubt, that has-beens do come back. I know, for I who write this rhyme, when forty-odd years old, was down and out, without a dime, my whiskers full of mold. By black disaster I was trounced until it jarred my spine; I was a failure so pronounced I didn't need a sign. And after I had soaked my coat, I said (at forty-three), "I'll see if I can catch the goat that has escaped me." I labored hard; I strained my dome, to do my daily grind, until in triumph I came home, my billy-goat behind. And any man who still has health may with the winners stock, and have a chance at fame and wealth—for has-beens do come back.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE TO MEET IN MACON

Chairman Walter Johnson Sets Date of Session for March 10, Although His Opponents Favored February 24.

The call for a meeting of the republican state central committee at Macon March 10 at noon, issued by Chairman W H Johnson yesterday is an interesting development of a bitter factional fight which has been waged for some time past in the ranks of the republicans

The call for the meeting ignores the request of about forty republicans who met here last week and adopted resolutions requesting Chairman Johnson to call the meeting for February 24 at Atlanta These resolutions were adopted at a meeting called by Henry S Jackson and the call furnishes ample evidence of the inability of the Johnson and Jackson forces to reconcile their differences at this time

Fight to the Finish.

It appears to be a fight to a finish and few political forecasters are willing to risk their reputations as political seers on predictions as to the ultimate winners How the Jackson faction will receive the call ignoring their request is a matter of conjecture It is certain, however that the meeting will not be held at the time and place desired by the Jackson men in that Chairman Johnson has final authority by reason of his position.

The battle for control of the state republican organization has many angles which are attracting wide attention among the members of the party and Georgians with other political affiliations Some time ago Roscoe Pickett announced his candidacy for the position of state chairman, charging that Chairman Johnson bolted the party at the Chicago convention in 1912

C P Goree a member of the Atlanta bar is another who will offer for the state chairmanship He claims that Pickett was the first man who asked him to make the race, and that the first pledge of support which he received was from Pickett He denies that Chairman Johnson bolted the party and contends that the progressives should be welcomed to the fold

Burton Gives Advice.

Political rumor has it that upon his recent visit to Atlanta, former Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio told some of the local republicans of the necessity for the settlement of their differences so that the work of building up the party in this state may proceed He is said to have been advised that only through political warfare can the dispute be settled the time for peaceful negotiations having passed

The call for the meeting at Macon follows

Columbus Ga. February 14 1916

By virtue of authority vested in me as chairman of the republican state central committee of the state of Georgia, I do hereby call a meeting of said committee to be held at the Auditorium in the city of Macon Ga. at 12 o clock noon Friday March 10 1916 for the transaction of such business as may properly come before said meeting of said committee

TEMPERATURE WILL RISE SLOWLY TODAY, STATES FORECASTER

That the temperature will rise gradually Tuesday morning, and the day will be much more pleasant than were Sunday and Monday in the prediction of the local weather forecaster

Following Sunday s bitterly cold weather, Atlanta on Monday experienced continued low temperatures, although the wind was not so strong as on the previous day, and out-of-door pursuits were much less uncomfortable.

There is plenty of room for a rising temperature, however, and Atlantans who have been forced to spend a considerable portion of their time during the past two days out of doors will welcome the prediction for more pleasant weather

Winds will shift to northeasterly, says the weather man

The cold weather that has prevailed so long in the northwest took a start southeastward on Sunday and spread over the southern and eastern portions of the United States but at the same time the zero temperatures have all disappeared in the northwest, Winnipeg reporting 6 degrees above Monday morning, Williston 30 degrees and Havre 32 degrees above zero The only stations reporting temperatures below zero were Pittsburg and Sault Ste Marie both were 2 degrees below, and Green Bay 10 below

No storm is evident within the limits of the United States, the atmospheric pressure being quite high everywhere Snow flurries are, however reported at some eastern stations, including Birmingham Hatteras, N C., and lower lake stations

WESTERN RAILROAD MEN VISITORS TO ATLANTA

Southern Pacific Passenger Representatives Spend Several Hours Here.

The Southern Pacific railroad is sending representatives of passenger department in parties of five to various cities on this side of the Rockies on what are termed educational tours. These men are engaged in familiarizing themselves with the methods of eastern railroads with the manner in which eastern business interests co operate with the systems in community development and with the developments of the country in general

Arriving at New Orleans with the intention of going to Philadelphia and New York without delay the party which was here Monday heard such splendid descriptions of Atlanta that they decided to come here The party was made up of E C Potter city passenger agent, with headquarters at Los Angeles Charles E Tyler of the passenger department with headquarters at Los Angeles H b Fenton city ticket agent, with headquarters at Sacramento James R. Fowle ticket agent, with headquarters at San Francisco, J O Thomas city ticket agent, with headquarters at Seattle

Arriving here at noon the visiting officials were met by Joseph Billups general passenger agent of the West Point and E B Mathews, traveling passenger agent of the same system Messrs Billups and Mathews took their guests on a motor drive over the city of Atlanta presenting to the Southern Pacific representatives an opportunity to see Atlanta s business and residential districts The local railroad men entertained the visitors at lunch and later presented them to a number of the passenger officials affiliated with various lines represented at Atlanta. The party departed Monday afternoon at 5 o clock

This is the third time that the Southern Pacific has sent groups of passenger representatives to the east merely to study conditions in this part of the United States with a view of broadening their knowledge of railroad affairs and comparing their systems with different methods in vogue in the east.

VALUE OF BONDS TO CITY STRESSED BY DR. D'ALVIGNY

Dr Charles D'Alvigny, formerly inspector of street paving in Atlanta, has returned from Greenville, S C, where he has been since last September, superintending the paving of streets

"I have a word for the people of Atlanta," says Dr D Alvigny. "I want to tell them that the people in South and North Carolina are getting money from bond issues and are going ahead doing a lot of work. In Greenville they have raised a million dollars for paving streets Richland county has a million for road work The little town of Sumter, of only 25,000 population has raised $250,000 from bonds for street work. Greenville has just finished paving seven miles of streets

'Atlanta is getting way behind the cities and towns of the south in public improvements simply because it does not use its credit and issue bonds You've got to stretch credit for a city that is growing like Atlanta. You must make the coming generation pay for what you are going to provide them with if you give them paved streets sewers, waterworks and fair grounds you must make them help to pay the costs Other cities that I have recently visited are doing this and unless Atlanta follows suit we will not do our duty to ourselves or to those who are to live here after us

Senor Camilo Borja, Stranded in Atlanta, Asks Railroad Fare

Senor Camilo Borja, after having lived in high political life in London as consul from Ecuador, is in Atlanta, down and out financially to use a mere American idiom, straiped.

The senor has been driven to the necessity of appealing to the city government for aid to provide him with at least enough United States coin to give him a lift as far as Washington where he hopes to rehabilitate himself politically and re establish himself on a sounder financial basis

Senor Borja left London during the unpleasantness between the European nations and visited San Francisco. He gravitated by easy stages towards Washington, D C, by strategem and diplomacy until he landed in Atlanta. By this time he was reduced to the necessity of resorting to helpers leagues and Salvation Army headquarters. He speaks five languages, but you can t parley vous for a bed

His maneuvers finally brought him in contact with the city warden to whom he made his appeal for transportation to Washington. This resulted in some international correspondence by wire to establish the senor s identity One of the telegrams received was in Spanish and it is said the mayor to whom it was shown, read it upside down

Senor Ignacio Calderon the Ecuador minister at Washington was communicated with and if he vouches for senor Borja s credentials the city warden will send him happy on the way

Resolutions for City Federation Meeting.

The resolution committee of the Atlanta City Federation of Women's clubs requests that all resolutions to be presented at the meeting February 17 be sent to the chairman not later than Tuesday, February 15 for consideration and indorsement by the committee previous to the formal presentation to the executive board and open meeting

This action is taken by the committee to prevent hastily written resolutions being handed in at the last moment Since many important matters are presented to the federation through the resolutions committee and since it is their earnest desire to be just and fair and to present only carefully-worded well-thought out plainly-typed resolutions, it is hoped that all those who wish to present any business in the form of resolutions will comply with these suggestions This is especially necessary as duplicate copies must be made for the press and records

Honor Paid Mrs. McCabe.

The following resolutions by Mrs James Jackson were adopted

Our beloved Mrs McCabe is no longer with us On Thursday the 3d instant, she was called from earth to heaven and entered into her eternal rest. Sweet in disposition gentle and deferential in manner unselfish in feeling and desires, always loving and kind her presence among us was ever a source of pleasure and inspiration Mrs McCabe was a most remarkable woman—a woman who combined rare common sense and imagination in admirably adjusted qualities. Her humor made her tolerant Her common sense made her wise Her imagination made her tender She was a lady by birth by instinct, by education and by preference This was felt by all who came in contact with her The same courtesy the same kindness was manifested to all no matter what their condition in life

It was my privilege for a number of years to be intimately associated with Mrs McCabe—what a friend she was, so sincere so true, so faithful The world to me and to many others was better because she lived in it, life was sweeter because she shared it.

But it was in the home circle around her home fireside, surrounded by her children and grandchildren, where she manifested peculiarly the graces of cheerfulness, tenderness and unselfish devotion Truly it may be said of her She looketh well to the ways of her household—her children arise up and call her blessed

The wind which will sing through the branches of the trees where she lies buried will be a perpetual requiem to her memory the flowers in their season will be a memorial to her virtues the dewdrops and the rain will type the sorrow that is occasioned by her death But amid it all there is left the blessed consolation that it is well with her—it is well

Resolved That we feel in the death of Mrs McCabe the loss of one of the most efficient and faithful members of the Atlanta Woman's club.

Resolved That emulating her example we pledge ourselves to renewed fidelity and vigor to the work of the club so dear to her heart.

Resolved That a page in our minutes be set apart in honor of her memory

Resolved That we express our deepest sympathy with the bereaved relatives and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family.

Respectfully submitted
MRS JAMES JACKSON

HUNDREDS BUY SEATS FOR MID-WINTER OPERA

Combination of Singing and Dancing Stars Attracting Music Lovers.

Atlanta's mid-winter opera performances Friday and Saturday of this week by the Boston Opera company and the Pavlowa Ballet Russe, which appear simultaneously, is creating the greatest possible interest Orders for seats have been received from all parts of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama and surrounding states the indications being that more persons will be brought here from out of town than any event at the Atlanta theater has ever attracted

The repertoire of the three performances has been complimented by all opera and art lovers The fact that 'The Love of Three Kings will bring out Giovanni Zenatello Louisa Villani Graham Marr Jose Mardones and other stars of international repute is most pleasing and means that the opera will be sung as only really great artists are able to interpret it. The performance will be followed by Mlle Pavlowa and the Ballet Russe in the Spanish dances which the incomparable dancer has never given here This change was made at the request of many art lovers who were anxious to see the Russian stars in these dances which are pronounced the finest type ever given

Tamaki Miura the famous Japanese soprano will be in the title role of Madame Butterfly at the Saturday matinee, supported by Riccardo Martin Thomas Chalmers and others of great repute, and will be followed by Dancing Divertissements, another change from the program as originally announced Mlle Pavlowa made a tremendous hit in these dances and the change is another request from hundreds of her admirers Maggie Teyte Gaudenzi Mardones, Marcel and Chalmers or Marr will be seen in La Boheme which will be followed by the two act Coppelia ballet which Mlle Pavlowa and her dancers give in the most exquisite manner

One of the biggest features of the opera engagement will be the first showing in Atlanta of the famous scenic work of the master artist Joseph Urban, whose work stands supreme

The orchestra of forty-five will require the removal of the first two rows of seats at the Atlanta to give the opera the proper setting The conductors with the company are of international repute

Atlanta has so much opera by the Metropolitan organization that it was a question as to its wanting the Boston company, but the sale of seats has given assurance that Atlanta does want high class opera, even is by another company

Bisland Will Be the "Goat"

BISLAND IN BAD, SURE TO BE GOAT

It Makes No Difference Whether He Proves Contention or Not—Matty Getting Camp in Shape.

By Dick Jemison.

Manager Charles Frank, of the Crackers, will return to Atlanta this morning from New Orleans, where he spent Sunday and Monday on a personal business visit. Upon his return there will probably be some news from baseball headquarters.

In the meantime the training camp gossip and the Bisland case are occupying the attention of the fans. Here's the latest dope from both sources.

Rivington Bisland might not have played very useful ball for the Crackers last season, but he has furnished considerable good copy for the press of the circuit by his statement that the Crackers paid him more than his contract called for last season.

The Chattanooga Times of Sunday carries a column story regarding the case, with President O. B. Andrews' letter to President Baugh, of the Southern league, included, which furnishes some rather interesting reading.

The Birmingham Age-Herald of Sunday goes even stronger. They have a column story, in which The Constitution's and Times' comments on the case are quoted in full, and in another column is a review of the case together with Baugh's statement of the circumstances and the course he will pursue.

Bisland is certainly in bad with the powers that be in baseball. President Baugh is not going to take just Bisland's affidavit to the effect that he got $350 instead of $250 last season. Baugh states Bisland must show that he got the money, and from whom.

If he shows he got it he'll be suspended. If he doesn't he'll be suspended. So there you are.

Matty Hard at Work.

Harry Matthews is astonishing the natives at Valdosta by the way he is putting the baseball park in shape there for the arrival of the Crackers. Here is what The Valdosta Times of Saturday says about his work:

Harry Matthews, Manager Charlie Frank's righthand man, is about the busiest man in Valdosta these days. He has a gang of men at work at Pine Park getting things in shape for the coming of the first squad of the Atlanta baseball team and from the way he is making the dirt fly everything will be in readiness when the pitchers arrive on the scene in the early days of next month. "Matty" says he is going to have about the best baseball park in the country at Pine Park and persons who have seen his work are of the same opinion.

When "Matty" announced that he intended to build a grass infield at Pine Park there were a good many persons who doubted the wisdom of trying out such a plan with only about three weeks in which to do it. But "Matty" knew what he was about and he started out with a rush. A gang of workers has been placed at his disposal and the way they have been turning things over there is no doubt but that the playing field will be in readiness for the Crackers when they arrive.

Matty has had the diamond laid off with an instrument and it is to be of the most approved turtle back style. He is digging up Bermuda grass in squares about 12 inches each way and laying them on the infield as one would lay tile or matting. After putting the grass down it is packed, watered and smoothed off. That portion of the field where grass has been laid is as level and smooth as a floor and the entire infield will be treated in this manner. The infield is to be carefully raked and all little holes and low places filled in and packed. The entire field is to be made fit for the best team in the country and Matty says Manager Frank is going to bring such a team with him.

The advance squad of the Crackers will arrive about a week before the regular team. This will give him time to get the hurlers in shape and when the other players come in things will begin to hum. Practice games are being arranged and the team is expected to remain in Valdosta until early in April.

SOLDIER BARTFIELD ISSUES HOT DEFI

We are in receipt of the following letter from Dan McKetrick, manager of Soldier Bartfield, claimant of the welterweight championship:

"Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Soldier Bartfield, the legitimate and unadulterated welterweight champion, was very much amused when Jack Britton, Ted Lewis, Jimmy Duffy and Willie Ritchie all claimed the welterweight title. Bartfield had scored over Britton and knew he could defeat Lewis. All he wanted, was an opportunity to meet Lewis.

"Well, it came. At Buffalo, on last Friday night, Lewis was well whipped and dropped by Bartfield, twice. This was some feat, being that Bartfield broke his right hand when he dropped Lewis in the second round. If the others dispute Bartfield's right to the title, they can have a match.

"Mike Gibbons bills himself, on his letter heads, as welterweight champion. Bartfield was given the popular verdict over Gibbons, whom he also had on the floor in their fight at Ebbett's field. If the Phanton wants another match, he can have it and at his own weight. This challenge is also directed to all of the middleweights.

"Very truly,

"DAN M'KETRICK."

Adairsville 28, Calhoun 1.

Adairsville, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—The Adairsville and Calhoun athletic clubs met here yesterday afternoon, and Adairsville romped over them, 28 to 1. The Adairsville team are ready to meet any team in this part of the state for games. Write G. M. Sandlin, captain. The Adairsville girls are willing to meet the fastest teams in this section. LOOKING THEM OVER

WITH BILLY EVANS

DISCUSSING PLAYS THAT CONFLICT AND CONFUSE

Is it possible for a player to be retired twice in the same inning for different reasons? Since two were out at the time, this out made the third out and retired the side. The different outs, however, had entirely different bearing on the result. Such a play came up in a game last summer. The batter was not aware that the runner had missed first base, so he made the proper play when he threw the ball to the third baseman, and that infielder had made the right play when he touched the runner out.

The question that arises out of the play is, can the umpire after declaring the runner out and retiring the side, reverse himself and declare the runner out for another reason, said reason playing a most important part in the final result? When the umpire declared the runner out at third it meant two runs for the visitors, making the score 6 to 5, and as a one-run margin is often enough to win, it probably meant the ball game. A reversal of the original ruling and the declaring out of the batter for failure to touch first base, made a simple force third out for what appeared to be a near triple. Since no runs can be scored on a third out in which the batter fails to reach first base, which technically happened in the case cited, the two runs were wiped out, and the home team won the game, 5 to 4. The umpire so ruled, and the general opinion is that he was within his rights, as the failure to touch first base had priority to the out at third base.

William J. Knox, of Philadelphia, the only ten-pin expert to bowl the perfect 300 score in a national championship, will not compete in the American congress tournament which begins in Toledo March 4. Knox registered his score in the former American congress tourney at Toledo in the individual matches.

"Umps" Scott Chestnutt Quits Southern League For the International

Birmingham, Ala., February 14.—(Special.)—Scott Chestnutt, for the past several years an umpire in the Southern league, and one of the best-known figures in southern baseball, announced this morning that he had accepted an offer from President Barrow, of the International league, to serve as an arbiter in the east during the coming season. Chestnutt has given universal satisfaction in this circuit and has more friends than the average umpire owing to his predilection for fine clothes and politics.

President Baugh says that he has at least twenty applications for the position, but will not announce a successor to Chestnutt for several weeks as he desires to go over the material available carefully.

WELSH MEETS WINNER DUNDEE-MANDOT BOUT

New Orleans, February 14.—Local fight promoters today announced they had closed arrangements with Freddie Welsh, world's lightweight champion, to meet the winner of the Joe Mandot-Johnny Dundee bout, which is to be held here February 21.

According to the announcement, Welsh will receive a guarantee of $13,000. The fight will take place in New Orleans March 4, and will be twenty rounds for the title.

TODAY IN PUGILISM

1805—Tom Cribb defeated Tom Blake in twenty rounds at Blackheath, Eng. This was the second ring battle of Cribb, who was destined to rank among the greatest of England's champions. He had previously fought George Maddox and defeated him in 76 rounds. "Tough Tom" Blake was a rugged fighter and was 35 years old. He had fought many hard battles on sea and land, for Blake was a sailor by trade, and did his fighting between voyages. Young Cribb found the tar not so tough as he had been painted, and, although Blake fought furiously, Cribb soon battered him down. It was this same "Tough Tom" who was afterward engaged to serve as a trial horse for Tom Molineaux, the Virginia negro, when the latter arrived in England in search of pugilistic fame. The sailor was then nearing the 40 mark, but, as he had been ashore some time and had spent all his money, he was ready enough to tackle the black. The bout was fought on one of the hottest days England ever had, which just suited the negro, but made the sailor so weak that he could do little against Molineaux. Tom Cribb then tried to revenge Blake, but only the fact that the bout was fought on a cold, wet day saved Cribb from taking a beating at the hands of Massa Molineaux. The negro was really the victor, but, after a shady decision by the referee, he finally succumbed to the weather.

FATE OF TWO SALLY CITIES WILL BE SETTLED THIS WEEK

Savannah, Ga., February 14.—Whether Savannah and Macon will remain in the South Atlantic league this season is not expected to be definitely decided until a meeting of the circuit committee of the league the latter part of this week, according to information given out here today by N. P. Corish, president of the league. Mr. Corish said he knew nothing of a report that Macon had been given until 4 o'clock this afternoon to raise the money necessary for a guarantee that Macon would put a team in the league.

At the last meeting of the circuit committee it was announced that February 9 would be the last day on which Macon and Savannah could decide whether to remain in the league. Efforts to raise the money, particularly at Macon, had not been finished at that time and the agreement as reported was not followed to the letter. Reports from Macon are that an effort is being made to get the money in time to announce to the next meeting of the committee that Macon will be in the league. No great effort is being made here and many of those interested believe Savannah will not be in the league this year.

It has been announced that Montgomery, Ala.; Waycross, Ga.; Florence, S. C., and Dothan, Ala., have applied for any vacancy that may present itself.

JOHNSTON REFUSES TO REPORT TO EBBETS

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 14.—(Special.)—Claiming that President Ebbets, of Brooklyn, has refused to assume his Federal league contract, Jimmy Johnston, former Birmingham speed merchant, whose home is in Chattanooga, has refused to report to the National league club.

Johnston played with the Oakland Coast league club last year. Shortly after the season closed, he signed with Owner Sinclair, of the Newark Federals. After peace was concluded, Sinclair sold him to Brooklyn. Johnston asserts that Ebbets wants him to play for a smaller salary than called for in his Federal contract, although the latter is of the supposedly iron-clad variety.

Chappell to Cleveland.

Chicago, February 14.—Outfielder Larry Chappell will be sent to the Cleveland Americans within the week, it was announced here today. The sending of the player to Cleveland by President Comiskey, of the White Sox, is said to be his final payment for Joe Jackson.

Prince Henry Ran Fourth.

London, February 14.—Prince Henry, third son of King George, ran fourth today in the annual junior mile race at Eton. His time was 4 minutes 54 seconds. The winner was a young schoolboy named Rice. The race was a most strenuous one, owing to wind and rain.

Beals Becker Released.

Philadelphia, February 14.—The Philadelphia National League Baseball club today announced that Beals Becker, utility outfielder, had been given his unconditional release.

HAY PLEDGES SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, February 14.—President Wilson today received a letter from Chairman Hay, of the house military committee, assuring him of the desire of the committee to work in harmony with him in perfecting the plans for national defense.

The letter was sent in compliance with a resolution adopted by the committee thanking the president for his confidence expressed in his published correspondence with former Secretary Garrison.

The letter follows:

"I have been instructed by the committee on military affairs of the house of representatives to convey to you the very great appreciation which the committee feels for the confidence which you have shown in its good faith and patriotism, and to assure you of its desire to work in harmony with you in perfecting a plan which would be of the greatest benefit to the country."

WILLARD MADE RING DEBUT FIVE YEARS AGO

Edited by DICK JEMISON

By "Gravy."

Sapulpa sports were mildly interested five years ago today in a boxing bout which had been arranged for their amusement by a local promoter. The Oklahoma town—which is fourteen miles southwest of Tulsa and in the oil and gas region where Sinclair accumulated the kale which helped to keep the Federal league alive—wasn't and isn't any great metropolis, but it had more red-blooded hombres among its 10,000 people than most cities of a hundred thousand. Boxing was their favorite sport, and, although the affair arranged for February 16, 1911, brought together a couple of novices, a big crowd turned out to witness the bout.

Louis Fink was one of the principals, and the reception he got proved that he was the favorite of the crowd. His opponent was a great, towering giant who was introduced as Jess Willard. It was Jess' first appearance in the ring, and it was evident that he was afflicted with a bad case of stage fright. It seemed to the young farmer that Sapulpa's masculine population had suddenly grown to a million or so, and that the whole bunch was there to see him make a bally ass of himself. Jess would doubtless have given a lot to be back on the old farm. He was so nervous that he could scarcely get his gloves on, and there was a perceptible quaking of the giant's knees when the ball rang and Jess faced his opponent.

Sapulpa sports nearly laffed themselves to death during the bout. Jess was as green as the grass of his native Pottawatomie county, and Fink wasn't much better. At times they seemed to be determined to turn the bout into a wrestling match, and the perspiring referee worked overtime pryfig them apart. As the affair progressed, Willard gained in confidence. He discovered that although Fink had lambasted him with blows that were the best he had in the shop, he wasn't in the least hurt. Willard had a bad cold at the time, and often he stopped to blow his nose. Fink was an obliging chap, and calmly waited until Jess had finished the ceremony. Then Willard would call out, "Come on, Lou," and they would resume fighting. If the combatants hadn't been such novices it would have seemed like the most barefaced hippodrome, but the fans knew they were in deadly earnest, and appreciated the naive exhibition to the fullest extent.

If anybody had suggested that big, green Jess was the coming champion of the world, he would have got the merry ha-ha. He was disqualified for fouling in the tenth round, so his first battle was recorded as a defeat. Jess has always insisted that he was not guilty of a foul, and that the referee had it in for him. As a matter of fact, Jess probably didn't know what a foul was at that period of his career, and the referee would have been well within his rights if he had disqualified both warriors in the first minute of the first round.

At that time the fans of Sapulpa, Tulsa and other eastern Oklahoma towns were wildly excited about Carl Morris. The engineer had knocked out the old veteran, Marvin Hart, in Sapulpa only a couple of months before, and a month or so afterward Morris put ol' Mike Schreck to sleep in the same town. Sapulpans looked upon Carl as the coming champion, and Jess was dismissed from their minds as just an amusing Rube who would soon go back to the farm and give up his ambition to become a fighter.

Jess landed only one solid blow in his first bout. That one swing knocked Fink clear out of the ring, and, if it had landed in a vulnerable spot, would have ended the argument. The result of that blow, and the fact that Fink's many punches hadn't hurt him in the least, decided Jess to keep on in the game. The following month he fought Fink again, in Oklahoma City, and knocked him out in the third.

HOUSTON IS LOOMING FOR WAR SECRETARY

Washington, February 14.—While President Wilson has not selected a new secretary of war, it was indicated tonight that the choice lay between Secretary Houston, of the department of agriculture, and several men outside of official life. The president is carefully canvassing the qualifications of all the men he considers available. It is said that although he may reach a decision at any time, it is probable no nomination will be made for several days.

Among the men outside of official life understood to be under consideration are Carter Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, and Judson Harmon, former governor of Ohio. Assistant Secretary Peters, of the treasury department; Secretary Lane, of the interior department, and Counsellor Polk, of the state department, also have been suggested. Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture, is said to be a possible successor to Secretary Houston should the latter be shifted to the war department.

The president has received a large number of political indorsements for various men, but officials say the selection will not be made upon political grounds.

Representative Abercrombie, of Alabama, suggested Ribb Graves, former adjutant general of Alabama, for assistant secretary of war to succeed Henry Breckinridge.

The adjutant general of Georgia has received from J. H. Ingraham, representing the citizens of St. Augustine, Fla., a plea for the indorsement of Major General J. C. R. Foster, adjutant general of Florida, for the position of secretary of war. Copies of the request for indorsement are being sent to the adjutant generals of the various states.

NICARAGUA CANAL ROUTE SOUGHT BY GERMANY

Washington, February 14.—That Germany had offered Nicaragua a larger sum than the United States for an option on the Nicaraguan canal route, was urged in the senate today as an argument for early ratification of the pending treaty.

Several senators said they had been informed during the course of the debate that Germany had long sought an option on the canal route, that efforts first were made soon after France undertook construction of a canal and renewed more recently.

Members of the foreign relations committee denied reports that there was documentary evidence in possession of the committee on the subject.

"Of course we have heard reports that Germany sought to obtain the Nicaraguan canal route," said Senator Stone, chairman of the committee. "Whether she offered $9,000,000 or $12,000,000 or $20,000,000, I do not know. We have no means of knowing. Germany was actuated by the same motives in seeking this canal route that France had in the original Panama enterprise is apparent to every one. Personally, I think it would be to the great political disadvantage of the United States for any European government to have control of a canal route across the Pan-American isthmus."

Champions of the pending Nicaraguan treaty are said to have cited Germany's desires in urging its ratification. Nicaragua having agreed to accept the $3,000,000 offered by the United States for the canal option and naval base in Fonseca Bay.

Senator Stone said late today that he had agreed to defer asking for a vote on the treaty until next Thursday, several democratic senators having notified him that they could not be present until that time.

JUBILEE CELEBRATED BY ATLANTA Y. W. C. A.

Officers Who Have Served During the Past Year Succeed Themselves.

About 300 people, men and women, were present at the annual meeting and jubilee celebration of the Y. W. C. A. last night at the Ansley hotel. Previous to the meeting those present enjoyed a banquet. Officers who have served during the past year were re-elected.

Seated on the platform were the speakers of the evening and several young women of the association. The gathering was presided over by Mrs. W. S. Witham, president of the association.

Among those who made addresses were Miss Anna V. Rice, of New York, who has been in the city since the celebration began last Friday; Miss Mildred Rutherford, of Athens; Miss Alice Wingo, secretary of the association; Miss Sarah Converse, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Tom Glenn and George Winship, Jr.

Miss Rice spoke of the growth of the association and cited several instances of its expansion during the last few years. She stated that the work of the national association is being carried more and more into the country districts and it is finding great favor.

One feature of the program was the singing of Mrs. B. F. Packer and a double quartet from Agnes Scott college, dressed in the costumes of 1866. Several selection were rendered.

The speakers were generously applauded and the whole tenor of the meeting was one of interest and enthusiasm for the work.

FORMER OFFICER FINED FOR HITTING MERCHANT

J. A. Bozeman, formerly a member of the Atlanta police force, was fined $10.75 for assault and battery on Mike Ellman, Decatur street merchant, several weeks ago when tried before Recorder Johnson in police matinee Monday afternoon.

According to Ellman, Bozeman had owed him some money and had refused to pay him. He also claimed that Bozeman came into his store and after speaking to him in a pleasant manner had knocked him down, when his, Ellman's back was turned.

Bozeman stated that Ellman had garnisheed his wages and had refused to accept payment of a few dollars at a time. He further stated that Ellman had attacked him first in the Decatur street scuffle.

In returning their verdict of guilty the jury made no recommendations for mercy.

CAMPBELL COURT ADJOURNS AFTER A BUSY SESSION

Fairburn, Ga., February 14.—(Special.)—Having disposed of all cases available for trial during a very busy session of seven days, wherein more cases were disposed of than in any equal previous period, Judge Charles Whiteford Smith at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon adjourned the regular February term of Campbell superior court, and on account of absence and illness of parties and counsel in several cases of importance wherein an early disposition is needful and desirable, it was ordered by the court that special term be called for the last Monday in February to continue for the week to try all cases not heretofore otherwise disposed of.

While the criminal calendar was larger than usual, its size was due to the effective vigilance of Sheriff G. E. Jenkins and other arresting officers and not, as might otherwise be inferred, to any increase of crime in Campbell county. In fact, the almost entire absence of cases involving grave offenses was notable, and it is the consensus of informed opinion that conditions are really much improved and the law-abiding spirit is more than ever in the ascendant in Campbell county.

Solicitor General George M. Napier secured convictions in about 90 per cent of the criminal cases tried.

New York, February 14.—The cotton market failed to hold an early advance today and May contracts eased off from 12.22 to 12.13, closing at 12.15. The general list closed steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher. Over-holiday developments evidently failed to create any fresh sentiment of consequence, and trading was quiet.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 7 points in response to higher Liverpool cables and sold about 4 to 8 points net higher during the early trading, with March working up to 11.98, July to 12.38 and October to 12.40. There was some Liverpool buying on this advance, as well as covering and a little support from local bulls, but after the close abroad the demand tapered off and prices turned easier under a renewal of March liquidation from wire and commission house sources, while there was also scattering local pressure encouraged by the sagging tendency at New Orleans. Offerings were not heavy or aggressive, however, and after sagging off to 11.90 for March, 12.30 for July and 12.33 for October, prices rallied 2 or 3 points.

The census figures on supply and distribution showed a domestic mill consumption of lint cotton for January of 542,055 bales, compared with 554,725 for December. This falling off may possibly have been a disappointment to some of the local bulls, but the report indicated a new high record consumption of linters, the figures for January being 95,499 bales, against 35,959 for the same month last year, and the combined consumption of lint and linters was 637,554 bales, compared with 633,580 for the month of December.

On the whole, consequently, the figures seemed to be considered about in line with expectations, and local traders appeared to be waiting for fresh developments in the spot markets, or in the shipping situation.

According to the figures of a local authority the amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the close of last week was only 133,593 bales, against 174,734 the previous week, and 452,529 bales at the same time last year.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 12.00, no sales.

New Orleans Sags 1 to 3 Points.

New Orleans, February 14.—After a slight advance in the early trading on this market today cotton fell off under dullness and remained at a small net decline during the remainder of the session. The close was at a net loss of 1 to 3 points.

The bullish showing of the consumption figures issued by the census bureau stimulated buying on the first call, on which the most active months rose 4 points. Shorts were inclined to cover at first, but the market lacked support from the long side and bear traders regained confidence. Their offerings at no time were very liberal. The market gradually sagged until in the afternoon the trading months were 4 to 5 points under the close of Saturday.

Weather conditions over the belt were considered more favorable than otherwise for plowing, but reports concerning acreage were conflicting and gave neither side the advantage. It was much of a waiting market.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged. Sales on the spot, 310 bales, to arrive, 200.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, February 14.—(Special.)—Today's market was devoid of interest and fluctuations on small orders. There is more talk of increased acreage and for the present we believe the market should be sold on rallies. Today's action does not indicate any particular move for tomorrow and we rather look for a drifting affair unless political news of interest should develop over night. Liverpool is due to come 2 English points lower.
JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, February 14.—(Special.)—About the only features to today's trading were the census report on domestic consumption and general liquidation of the March position in advance of notice day. The large consumption of linters is beginning to show up in the government reports and will likely result in low grades becoming scarce as the season progresses, automatically reducing the supply of spinnable cotton. Incentive is lacking for an aggressiveness and the market at the moment is a professional one. We would, however, accumulate cotton in these dull periods.
SHEARSON, HAMILL & CO.

New York, February 14.—(Special.)—Although the census bureau's report on the amount of cotton consumed by American mills during the month of January was fully up to expectations, prices in the local market showed a declining tendency because of the liquidation of March contracts. Except for this and the census figures market news and trading were without feature. The trade fully realizes that consumption this season by American mills will be a record, but in the absence of free exports buying is reduced to immediate requirements owing to the large visible supply.
JAY, BOND & CO.

New York, February 14.—(Special.)—The unmarketed cotton in the south is larger today than it ever was in history. The south are asking and possibly may obtain their own price for half of this unmarketed cotton, but for the last half of it a severe competition with the new crop will occur. The new crop prospects will make the price and not speculation. The price in England or in Germany or in Russia makes no difference. The problem is who will be willing to carry the surplus.

Of course, any banker will carry it if the speculative buying of October and December cotton will give them a premium sufficient to pay the carrying charge, but as yet there has not appeared sufficient buying power in these distant months and the market has been sustained only by the strength of the spot markets in the south where indifferent selling has met indifferent buying for some time. We must begin to match the into-sight of each week with last year and the mill takings of each week with those of last year before cotton can be called in a statistical position worthy of bullish consideration. A lingering idea exists that May cotton should be bought when it gets below 12 cents. We do not share this idea. We think the market is a purchase only when the new crop situation justifies.
RENSKORFF, LYON & CO.

New York, February 14.—(Special.)—A dull day in face of unexpectedly favorable advices from Liverpool, where, until our market opened, a demand for hedged cotton from spinners found few sellers. The difficulties of imports were apparently overcome during January, so that the amount of cotton afloat for Liverpool has increased through accomodations given to the foreign importer.

Our goods trade is in the best condition for many years, so the increased consumption of cotton, as given by the census report today, is corroborated evidence that our mills are runing to full capacity. It is this large consumption, together with the heavy takings of linters, which is slowly our supplies in the absence of any active export demand.

Meanwhile, the market drifts within a narrow range, simply because merchants do not feel able to forecast at the moment. Rumors of an increased acreage have checked buying for an advance, while the demand from spinners prevents any great pressure on the market of the supplies.

Sugar.

New York, February 14.—Reports that exporters were inquiring for raw sugar in Cuba and the settling of the strike at two of the leading refineries gave the market for raw sugar a firmer tone and prices were advanced 1-16c on Cuban grades. There were no sales to local refiners, aside from 5,000 bags of Porto Ricos afloat at equal to 4.70 for centrifugal, but operators bought about 19,000 bags of Cubas afloat at 3⅝c cost and freight, equal to 4.89 for centrifugal. This latter sale placed the market on a higher level, as there were no further offerings from holders under this quotation. The market closed firm at 4.89 for centrifugal, 4.12 for molasses and 3⅝c for Cubas cost and freight.

The market for refined sugar was firm and unchanged on the basis of 6c for fine granulated. No improvement was noted in the demand although there were moderate withdrawals on old contract. Refiners are said to be very backward in deliveries, but with the labor conditions adjusted some improvement along this line will soon be in order.

The market for futures was firmer on scattered covering and some demand from commission houses, prompted by the firmness of raws and the settling of labor difficulties. Prices were 9 to 12 points net higher at the close. Sales, 3,900 tons.

Coffee.

New York, February 14.—There was rather an active demand for late months at the reopening of the market for coffee futures here this morning and first prices were unchanged to 16 points higher. December sold up to 8.23 shortly after the call, or 18 points above last Friday's closing figures, while near months also stiffened up with the balance of the last, selling about 2 to 8 points net higher on covering or a moderate demand from trade sources. There was a good deal of realizing at the advance, however and prices later reacted, with December selling off from 8.23 to 8.10, while May declined from 7.87 to 7.84. The close was net unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales, 45,250.

Spot coffee, firm. Rio 7's, 9¾. Santos 4's, 9⅝c. Cost and freight market was unsettled and irregular owing to the continued scarcity of tonnage and uncertainty as to freight rates and insurance. Offers of Santos 4's were reported here, ranging around 9.75 for American credits, and of Rio 7's at 8.65 to 8.65 American credits.

The official cables reported no change in milreis prices since last Friday, but a decline of 3-16d in the rate of Rio exchange on London. Santos cleared 16,000 for San Francisco and Rio 8,000 bags for New York. Brazilian port receipts 28,000; Jundiahy, 10,000.

COPPER SECURITIES ARE STILL LEADERS

All Metal Shares Command Attention—Lower Trend in Rails and Many Other Groups Is Pronounced.

New York, February 14.—Metal shares commanded the bulk of speculative attention in today's dull and irregular market, with new high records for Anaconda, Utah, Butte and Superior, Shattuck-Arizona and Chino, while American Zinc also touched a new maximum. Gains in this group ranged from 1 to 8 points, but much of this advantage was forfeited at the end.

The further rise was attributed mainly to yet another advance in the price of refined copper, a quotation of 27½c being fixed by producers and dealers for June delivery. Boston and New England commission houses were heavy buyars of the copper stocks.

Oils, General Motors and New York Airbrake constituted the other irregularly strong features for a time, but the general movement in that quarter was conflicting. Among the recognized war shares Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and American Car were inclined to sag, this same condition applying to the fertilizers, Distillers Securities, United States Industrial, Alcohol and a halfscore of specialties whose movements are largely governed by the rise or fall of the munitions division. Mercantile Marine preferred was weak, losing 4¾ points at 71, and Mexican Petroleum yielded at the close.

Distinct heaviness prevailed among the rails from the outset, Canadian Pacific scoring an extreme loss of 3½ at 172, while St. Paul, New York Central, Reading, New Haven, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Eries were 1 to 2 points lower. United States Steel was another unsettling feature, persistent pressure affecting an extreme loss of 1½ at 83⅞.

The lower trend, which was most pronounced in the final dealings, was associated with fears of further foreign liquidation.

This was heightened by another large inflow of high-grade stocks and bonds from abroad. Conservative sentiment also was affected to a degree because of the new phases injected into the international situation by the Teutonic submarine policy.

Foreign exchange markets were dull, with some greater firmness in Sterling rates. Marks and rubles also hardened, the latter on purchases of finance bills in fairly round amounts.

Bonds were irregular throughout, with a continuance of the recent activity in Anglo-French 5's at concessions. Total sales, of bonds, par value, aggregated $3,580,000.

United States issues and Panamas advanced ⅛ per cent on call.

CHICAGO STAPLES DEVELOP WEAKNESS

Grains Depressed by Heavy Receipts and Freight Congestion—Gains in Provisions Wiped Out by Profit-Taking.

Chicago, February 14.—Big stocks of wheat and the seeming dubious chances of an adequate foreign outlet exerted a bearish influence today on wheat values here. The result was an unsettled close at ⅛ to ⅝@¾ net decline, with May at $1.27⅝ and July at $1.20¾. Corn finished ¼ down, oats off ¼ to ⅜@½ and provisions varying from 5@7½ loss to a rise of 2½@5.

Large receipts which piled up during the double holiday had a noticeable tendency to make holders of wheat discouraged, and this condition was emphasized later by the fact that the United States visible supply showed a weekly decrease of only about one-sixth as much as the corresponding time last year, whereas the total supply was posted as about 13,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's aggregate. Besides, warmer weather in the northwest was expected to increase the present movement. Reports of crop damage, chiefly in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri, acted to some extent as a check on the bears, but failed to stimulate any determined buying.

Absence of fresh export business until late in the session counted a good deal toward bringing about a lower average of wheat prices for the day.

After the close, however, sales to Europe were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, exclusive of 2,500,000 bushels, which had previously been reported.

Heavy arrivals led to a sharp break in the corn market, but a good seaboard demand at Peoria brought about something of a reaction. The bears were handicapped also by adverse crop conditions in Argentina.

Oats declined in sympathy with wheat and corn. There was some buying here, though, to remove hedges against Northwestern cash sales to the seaboard.

Provisions displayed some transient strength because of a buying movement on the part of several grain houses. Profit-taking by holders subsequently wiped out most of the gains.

—would a lower rate for money interest you?

Beginning February 15th, 1916, Manufacturers and Jobbers worth $20,000 to $1,000,000 can sell us all or part of their open accounts at a lower rate than ever before—in many cases a reduction of 33⅓%.

While your business may not need money, there are, doubtless, times when you can use some additional ready cash to advantage to discount your bills, buy for cash, or increase your volume.

Isn't it most logical then to sell us as many of your open accounts or customers' notes as the occasion may demand? You will receive about 80% spot cash, balance when you have collected the accounts for us, and your customers know nothing of the transaction.

The total cost now is only 1/30th of 1% for each day (1% a month figured to the exact day) on the net face of accounts from date of our purchase until paid, provided you sell us $100,000 of accounts within any 12 successive months. No Commission, Interest, Exchange or other Charges.

This is our second rate reduction within a year, made possible largely by an increase in our annual volume to over $20,000,000, three-fourths of which comes from firms rated $35,000 to $1,000,000. If you sell us less than $100,000 within any 12 successive months, there is an additional charge of $5. per $1,000.

It will involve no obligation on your part to write for details, or have our nearest representative call and explain our Non-Notification System.

LOANS TO FARMERS BY RESERVE BANKS

Urged in Report of Federal Reserve Board—Extension of the Acceptance System Is Also Urged.

Washington, February 14—Six amendments to the federal reserve act were recommended to congress today in the report of the federal reserve board for the first full year of operation of the new banking system

'A year's experience in the operation of the federal reserve act,' says the report, "has confirmed the board in its profound conviction that the act has been one of the most beneficial pieces of legislation ever adopted by congress. Not only have its fundamental principles been fully vindicated but in most details the working of the measure has been successful

The amendments recommended would

Permit national banks to subscribe and hold stock in banks organized for the special purpose of doing a banking business in foreign countries.

Permit, with the approval of the board, the issue of federal reserve notes of federal reserve banks either against the deposit of commercial paper or gold, provided that the gold so deposited shall count as part of the required reserve of the bank.

Extend the acceptance system to the domestic trade so far as it relates to documentary acceptances secured by shipping documents or warehouse receipts covering readily marketable commodities or against the pledge of goods actually sold.

Permit national banks to establish branch offices within the city or county in which they are located

Permit advances to member banks against the member banks secured promissory notes or against the deposit or pledge of United States government bonds

Authorize a wide discretion in the making of farm loans by national banks so that a federal reserve bank might make proper loans of this kind within a radius of 100 miles of its place of business whether in its district or another district

It is believed says the report that the enactment of these amendments will, besides enlarging the usefulness of the national banks result in greatly strengthening the operation of the federal reserve act, and more completely realize the purpose of its framers

Foreign Loans.

The board announces that it does not consider that it can direct the business operations of federal reserve banks in respect to foreign loans but that its function is to oversee these banks A plan is made in the report for the entrance into the system of more state banks and trust companies

In speaking of foreign borrowing in the United States the board points out that it has received many inquiries on this subject and has given them careful attention. It has reached the conclusion, it says, supported by competent legal advice, that the purpose for which goods are sold or exported, or the use which such goods are ultimately put, does not fall within its province or jurisdiction

If the report adds the transactions which have given rise to such sales or shipments are of a true commercial nature, if the basis upon which they rest is such as to comply with the requirements of the federal reserve act and if the maturity of the loan falls within the limitation of the law, then the paper growing out of them, no matter by whom or for what drawn, may at will be discounted by federal reserve banks, and must be regarded as falling within the legitimate sphere of their operations The federal reserve act makes no provision for collateral bond or stock loans or for the purchase of foreign governments for federal reserve banks tions Neither such obligations, therefore, nor loans to member banks based thereon are eligible as investments for federal reserve banks.

The operation of the reserve system is a matter of business to be conducted in accordance with the terms of the reserve act and the regulations of the board It is not the province of the board to deal with problems involving international relationship of the United States either for the purpose of restricting or extending exportations in one direction or another The eligibility of paper for reserve banks is determined by considerations which are as valid under one set of international relationship as another the function of passing upon and dealing in such paper under these regulations belongs to the several reserve banks The board, however believes that the financing of the country's export trade is at the present time one of the most important financial problems with which the nation has to deal and it is of the opinion that federal reserve banks cannot, even if they would avoid the responsibility of assisting in this process of financing what legitimately and properly devolves upon them."

Suits are Regretted.

The board expresses regret that in some states suits have been instituted to test the validity of the provisions of the reserve act by which it may grant certain fiduciary powers to national banks announces its intention to have its counsel intervene in these cases and says that every effort will be made to have the question settled by the supreme court at an early date It is pointed out that only thirty five state banks have been admitted to the system and eighty-four others have come in by conversion into national banks

It is regrettable continues the report, that in not a few states reserve requirements for state banks and trust companies have been materially lowered by legislative enactment since the adoption of the federal reserve act The only justification for the reduction of the reserve requirements for national banks is the fact that the national banks are members of the federal reserve system and that the federal reserve banks hold part of the consolidated reserve of the national banks and are therefore in position to come immediately with all of their resources to the support of national banks in case of necessity or emergency

On the other hand, it is stated state banks have reduced their reserve requirements without the support of the reserve system "This says the report, "is an element of danger in our banking system, because the weakening of the reserves of the state banks and trust companies makes them more vulnerable in times of emergency and it is conceivable that a situation might arise in the affairs of such state banks and trust companies where they might have to call upon the credit structure of the national banks and the federal reserve system for support whom they would not be entitled to if because they had not contributed to the strength of the federal reserve system by taking membership in it. The board is giving serious thought to this question and to the action that may be taken to guard against the consequences of this situation

This part of the report is concluded with an expression of opinion that the resources of the country would be greatly enlarged and strengthened with corresponding benefit to business and the people if state banks and trust companies were to enter the system

Money Market Easy.

The report declares that a condition of remarkable ease was the outstanding feature of the country's money market during the year It says that the nation's export trade has reached high water mark that manufacturing in nearly all lines is active and that it has been the part of wisdom for reserve banks to conserve their resources and hold themselves in readiness to meet any unexpected developments in the situation An increase of almost a billion dollars in the combined loans of national banks in the year and an increase of deposits of nearly two billion dollars are pointed to as pertinent in considering the situation

These facts the report says would seem to indicate that it is prudent to be prepared for a time when the reserve resources of the country will be subjected to a severe test and when the leadership and operations of the federal reserve banks will become correspondingly more influential

The discount policy of the board during the past year is declared to have been the proper one under the existing circumstances but it is pointed out that as time goes on there will be a disposition to make these rates as nearly equal in all parts of the country as is possible The reserve banks have not been greatly encouraged to indulge in such commercial banking operations as the law permits open market operations as the act terms them the board says because thereby the danger of inflation might have been increased and money rates further depressed More active participation in such transactions by reserve banks may be expected in the future

The board the report announces is considering the establishment of branch agencies of reserve banks in cities other than those where such banks are located and for the present does not expect to approve the establishment of branch reserve banks The clearing operations of the banks it says have proved a success but too few of the banks have taken advantage of this function

LET OFFICERS TALK, URGES LESLIE SHAW

Former Cabinet Member Is in Favor of "Biggest Scheme of Preparedness."

'The biggest scheme of preparedness is the one most suitable to Leslie M Shaw for five years secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt and a former governor of Iowa, according to an interview given to a Constitution reporter last night at the Piedmont hotel

When the reporter called upon Mr Shaw he found the ex-secretary of the treasury instead of delving into financial readings bending over a copy of Hudson Maxim's Defenseless America.'

He was asked for an interview on financial subjects on the country's prosperity

No answered the Iowan There is a bigger subject for me to talk about if I am going to say anything—and it is preparedness of the American nation I am reading Hudson Maxim's Defenseless America' now, and the book tells the truth

President Wilson instead of gagging the army and navy officers should instruct them to accept every invitation they have to talk and to tell about the defenselessness of America but not in a hysterical way

You ask me what program of preparedness I am in favor of I favor the biggest plan of preparedness ever suggested for this nation should be prepared to defend its immense wealth at any time and against any enemy

When asked about William Jennings Bryan he said

Bryan was born defective in the way of having logical ideas the same as I was born defective about music No one is to blame Whenever Mr Bryan has an idea he thinks it is a conclusion His radical peace policies if carried out fully would be the self destruction of this nation
